Purpose of Course:

The purpose of this course is for you, the student, to gain a working knowledge of the U.S. Congress, from both a theoretical and a practical perspective, in an effort to further develop your own views into the legislative and political processes. This will be done by combining themes from assigned readings and lectures with insight gathered from guest speakers, current periodicals, and in-class discussions.

Required Readings:

The Washington Post.

Various readings as assigned.

Grade Determination:

40% Final Examination
30% Take-Home Midterm
20% Various Assignments (paper, issue brief)
10% Class Participation, Attendance and Knowledge of Readings

Office Hours:

I will be available to meet with students immediately following class sessions on Monday night, or by appointment at other times.

Assignments:

You have been given several deadlines to meet throughout the semester and you are expected to meet them.
Class Schedule:

This schedule is subject to change throughout the semester. When guest speakers and events become available, the time and place of class sessions may change. Special class sessions will be added to those listed on the syllabus and you are required to attend these additional sessions. I realize the difficulty this adds to balancing your schedule and you will be given as much advanced warning as possible of these additions.
