

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND > STUDY ABROAD

Students on this program directly enroll at either AUT University or The University of Auckland. Between the two universities a wide range of academic disciplines are available. The combination of academic work, field trips and personal travel opportunities combine to give students a rich introduction to New Zealand life and culture. Upon successful completion of a semester students earn 16 Boston University credits.

REQUIRED COURSE

CAS SS 315 Aotearoa New Zealand: History and Society (4 cr.)

ELECTIVE COURSES

Students choose three elective courses, either from The University of Auckland or AUT.

Auckland University Studies Program

HOST INSTITUTIONS

The University of Auckland boasts a comprehensive range of internationally recognized programs of study, outstanding scholars, global reach in the dissemination of research, extensive involvement in overseas programs, and a richly diverse faculty and student body. www.auckland.ac.nz

Recommended fields of study: geology, biology, chemistry, earth sciences, anthropology, liberal arts, business, economics, computer Science, mathematics, psychology, engineering, environmental sciences, and physics. Other tracks may be set up by special arrangement.

As New Zealand's most contemporary university, the Auckland University of Technology (AUT) is dedicated to combining theory and practice, creating and applying new knowledge and wisdom for professional practice. Its commitment to applied learning is reflected in strong journalism, communications, business, hospitality and tourism, information technology, and physical and occupational therapy fields. www.aut.ac.nz

Recommended fields of study: hospitality and tourism, physical therapy, occupational therapy, journalism, film/TV/radio production, sport and recreation, art and design. Other tracks may be set up by special arrangement.

HOUSING

Participants live in single bedrooms in furnished suites located in a vibrant urban environment, in the heart of Auckland and within walking distance of both universities. Students enjoy unlimited access to university facilities and sports and social activities.

EXCURSIONS

All students will enjoy two excursions to important cultural and historical sites within New Zealand.

ADMISSIONS

- Refer to our policy on eligibility/admissions at: www.bu.edu/abroad/admissions

PROGRAM DATES

Fall Semester: mid-July-mid-November
Spring Semester: early January-late June

APPLICATION DEADLINES

Fall Semester: March 15
Spring Semester: October 15

2012/2013 PROGRAM COST

Fall: $18,750; Spring: $20,800. Cost includes tuition, housing, field trips, and emergency travel assistance coverage. Financial aid is available.