From the Director

As cultural institutions both private and public confront a continuously evolving and challenging social and economic landscape, the roles of today's artists, arts administrators, and cultural managers grow increasingly complex. The pressures and realities of reconciling multiple careers, accessing adequate funds, managing artist-led organizations and community projects, and implementing change in for-profit and nonprofit institutions are just some of the issues faced by both visual and performing arts organizations today.

Being Boston-based makes the BU Arts Administration program uniquely positioned to ensure national and international exposure for its students, help develop professional experience in the field via internships and project management activities, and foster opportunities for collaborations with world-leading institutions and practitioners.

We look forward to working to provide the critical and professional tools necessary for you to truly succeed in today's art world.

Master of Science Degree in Arts Administration

The Master of Science (MS) in Arts Administration is designed for students who wish to pursue careers in visual arts, performing arts, and arts service organizations in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors, both domestically and internationally.

We offer a flexible schedule to accommodate students who are working or who have other responsibilities that prevent traditional full-time study. All coursework can be completed on a part-time, evening basis in approximately two calendar years. Students may also pursue their degree via full-time study.

Our faculty, comprised of both national and international arts practitioners, emphasizes an interdisciplinary curriculum and encourages collaboration between students from both visual and performing arts backgrounds. Students in the program are able to consult and network with a wide range of companies and nonprofit organizations operating within the art world. The program also emphasizes a global perspective, requiring students to enroll in an International Travel Study Course, which enables them to engage with world-renowned cultural leaders, museums, arts organizations, and artists.

Why Arts Administration?

The socioeconomic and political challenges of the day bring a renewed importance to the work of cultural entrepreneurs, artists, producers, curators, policy-makers, and administrators who embrace the challenge of re-thinking and re-shaping the fundamentals of contemporary society.

Founded at Boston University's Metropolitan College in 1993, the Arts Administration master's degree program draws upon the insight and participation of Boston's rich cultural and creative communities, infusing the classroom with a wealth of first-hand experiences, practical considerations, case studies, "war" stories, and best practices. Arts Administration faculty are leadership professionals, fundraisers, advocates, musicians, photographers, painters, collectors, and performers—among many other roles. As practitioners, and not simply theorists, the faculty offer rich perspectives and insights that provide students with a uniquely hands-on approach to study—with a foundation in the realities of today's arts organizations. Emphasizing excellence, creativity, economic problem-solving, internationalism, and a commitment to new media, the program produces graduates who are prepared to maneuver the challenges of managing complex arts and cultural organizations, ready to accept the global responsibilities of the arts in the twenty-first century, and eager to provide confident leadership that fosters growth and opportunity for the arts community.

Graduate Certificates

Boston University also offers both a Graduate Certificate in Arts Management and a Graduate Certificate in Fundraising Management. Students in these four-course certificate programs have access to all the resources of the program and the University, including our extensive network of visual and performing arts organizations—many of which have employed Boston University graduates—as well as internship and job placement services. Upon completion, interested students may request admission to the MS in Arts Administration. If approved, all completed credits earned towards the certificate will be applied to the degree program. More information on the graduate certificates can be found on pages 8 and 9.

International Study

Students in the Arts Administration program benefit from valuable exposure to the growing impact of globalization on the art world, and master's students are required to take an International Travel Study Course. Using the resources of Boston University and partnerships with other universities abroad, courses have been offered in Barcelona, Spain; Dublin, Ireland; Brussels, Belgium; London, England; and Havana, Cuba. MET AR 787 The Arts in Barcelona is offered during spring break and MET AR 777 Comparative Cultural Policy and Administration (Dublin/London) is offered in the summer.

The Arts in Barcelona

Songdi Wei (MET'17)

"This one-week travel study to Barcelona was really an unforgettable and meaningful experience for me. We were so lucky to get the private guided tours of various arts and cultural institutions in Barcelona, and [to] communicate with professionals. Under a globalized and pluralist context, it was a great opportunity for us to explore the multiple roles of an arts administrator, in different countries."

Comparative Cultural Policy and Administration (Dublin/London)

Sarah Bradshaw (MET'17)

"The situation of Dublin and London as representative cities of proximal nations with independent approaches to the arts and culture, at a particularly pivotal time in the history of the European Union, provides an interpretive lens with which the cultural policies and programs (or lack thereof) of other nations can also be analyzed. The comparative cultural policies of Ireland and the UK are at the forefront of the curriculum, but the ancillary experiences and tangential material are equally valuable within the structural framework of the overarching program in preparation for a variety of career opportunities."

Admission for Master's and Graduate Certificate Programs

All candidates for admission to the degree program must have a bachelor's degree, and are selected on the basis of undergraduate transcripts, academic and personal references, and related work experiences. We are particularly interested in those applicants who have two or more years of work experience after conferral of their undergraduate degrees. Personal interviews are strongly encouraged, either in person or by telephone. If you would like to arrange an interview, please contact the Arts Administration office at 617-353-4064 or artsad@bu.edu.

Students are expected to have demonstrable, discipline-based expertise in one area, such as visual arts, dance, theatre, or music. Although this requirement may be satisfied in a variety of ways, most successful applicants have previously earned an undergraduate degree in the arts.

While the program has a rolling admissions policy with no absolute deadlines, we strongly recommend that international applicants complete their application by November 15 for the spring semester, or March 15 for the fall semester. Students may choose to complete up to 8 credits on a non-matriculating basis, prior to admission.

Standardized admission tests, such as the GRE or GMAT, are NOT required for students.

International applicants to Metropolitan College graduate programs are required to submit a TOEFL or IELTS score, with a minimum score of 95 for TOEFL and 7.0 for IELTS.

Graduate Assistantships

A small number of Graduate Assistantships are available to matriculating students. These offer up to $4,200 in tuition remission in exchange for research and administrative work (10-20 hours per week). There is also, at times, a very limited amount of scholarship support available to outstanding students. Information about both of these opportunities are made available to students when they are admitted to the degree program. Please note that certificate students are not eligible to apply for the Graduate Assistantships or scholarships.

Academic Standing

All students in the Arts Administration program must maintain a grade point average of at least 3.0 to remain in good standing and graduate. No grade below B- in any course may be applied towards the degree. Students with a grade point average below 3.0 will be placed on academic probation and must achieve a cumulative 3.0 by the completion of the following semester or be subject to dismissal. Students who are placed on academic probation for two consecutive semesters are also subject to dismissal.

Financial Aid

Metropolitan College's Graduate Financial Aid office offers comprehensive financial assistance for graduate students. For information about deferred payment, loan programs, and scholarship opportunities, contact the MET Financial Aid Adviser at 617-358-4072 or finanaid@bu.edu, or visit bu.edu/met/financial-aid.

Capstone Requirements

Students matriculating in the Arts Administration master's degree program are required to have some direct work experience in arts organizations prior to degree conferral. Because our students come from a variety of backgrounds, the capstone requirements correlate with their work experience in the industry.

Thesis

Students with more than 24 months of working experience may, with guidance from their advisor, propose and write a thesis paper in lieu of the internship requirement. Students with fewer than 24 months of work experience may also choose to write a thesis in addition to completing an internship, given the permission of their advisor. In this case, the thesis will be considered an elective course and will not fulfill the capstone requirement.

Internship

Students with 24 or fewer months of work experience are expected to complete 150 hours of work with a host agency, generally within a single semester. A minimum of six (24 credits) of the ten required courses must be completed before the student undertakes the actual fieldwork, although the planning phase may begin earlier. The program maintains a formal relationship with a core group of host organizations that have been selected for their willingness to work with interns, although it is possible to intern with other organizations as well.

Advanced Management and Consulting for Arts Organizations

Students with 24–48 months of full-time professional work experience in the arts may waive the internship requirement, with their advisor's written consent, and substitute MET AR 804 Advanced Management and Consulting for Arts Organizations.

Additional Elective

With permission from their advisor, students with 48 months or more of industry work experience may substitute an additional elective course.

Graduate Certificate in Arts Management

The Graduate Certificate in Arts Management serves the many practicing and aspiring arts professionals who do not have the time or resources to commit to a full program of graduate study, or may already possess a graduate degree in another field. This certificate may be of particular interest to experienced professionals in related fields who are considering a career change.

The certificate consists of four graduate courses. Certificate students take the same classes as master's degree students and must follow all prerequisite and application requirements as outlined for the MS degree program.

Program Requirements

The certificate consists of four graduate courses for a total of 16 credits. Students take three required core courses and choose one additional course, as listed below.

Courses (Four courses/16 credits)

MET AR 690 The Art World

MET AR 750 Financial Management for Nonprofits

MET AR 778 Legal Issues in Arts Administration

And One Additional Course

Graduate Certificate in Fundraising Management

The Graduate Certificate in Fundraising Management is a four-course program designed to provide administrative, financial, technical, and leadership skills for those seeking careers as professional fundraisers, as well as for nonprofit managers who wish to substantially enhance their skills in fundraising. The certificate is also appropriate for professionals considering a career change, and will be of value to those in the arts, health care, education, faith-based, and human services fields.

The Graduate Certificate in Fundraising Management is a CFRE Approved Provider for Continuing Education. Full participation in the Graduate Certificate in Fundraising Management is applicable for 147.75 points in Category 1.B – Education of the CFRE International application for initial certification and/or recertification.

Program Requirements

The certificate consists of four graduate courses for a total of 16 credits, as listed below.

Courses (Four courses/16 credits)

MET AR 550 Raising Funds and Grant Writing for Nonprofit Organizations

MET AR 711 Capital Campaigns

MET AR 723 Individual Fundraising

Alumni Testimonials

“One of the most valuable elements of the program is the network of alumni—who are at practically at every art organization locally, and many of the most well-known organizations in the U.S.”

Ben Hires (MET'08)

*Director of Programs,
Boston Children's Chorus*

“The BU Arts Administration program exposed me to careers in the museum fields I never even fathomed before attending. We met everyone from collectors and community artists to directors and board members. The mix of backgrounds between visual and performing artists from around the world made for dynamic, diverse, and engaging discussions that tackled the art world from many angles.”

Matthew Dickey (MET'13)

Director of Development, Gore Place Society

“I like our program for many reasons, but I think the most outstanding one is the people I met here. It is always fun to talk with and learn from colleagues with diverse backgrounds in terms of their interests in arts administration, past working experience, and future goals. I was also lucky to work with my classmates and be able to present our school project to the institution itself. This experience was exciting, memorable, and fruitful!”

Wen Yu (MET'17)

Operations Manager and Artist, Build-It-Yourself

“The most valuable element of the program was meeting other ambitious arts administrators and artists working in New England. I had the opportunity to really expand my understanding of the larger arts community in Boston and become more involved.”

Blair Spotswood Hollis (MET'15)

*Corporate Relations Officer,
Museum of Fine Arts, Boston*

“I loved the ability to tailor the program to my specific areas of interest. Everything I learned through the program is in some way useful to what I do every day. Understanding the importance of an organization's mission, along with all of the nuts-and-bolts fundamentals of nonprofit management, are essential.”

J. Casey Soward (MET'09)

*Executive Director,
The Cabot Performing Arts Center*

“The BU Arts Administration program provided me with knowledge of various sectors in arts and cultural organizations. I took wide-ranging courses covering topics such as financial management, legal issues, fundraising, programming, and cultural tourism management. These courses were invaluable, and helped me step into a more dynamic and immersive art world.”

Yun Zhang (MET'17)

Senior Marketing Manager, HNA Tourism

Student Testimonials

"Arts Administration at Boston University has given me focus, vision, and drive to be able to support the work of arts organizations and individual artists. From a global perspective in understanding the state of the arts to learning the how-to's of day-to-day management, I now have the knowledge and skills to be successful because of this hands-on program."

—Kris Weir

"The Arts Administration program at BU stands out from other schools in that it offers series of courses in fundraising management. The program also offers a flexible schedule to accommodate working professionals, which allows students to bring in knowledge to their work and, at the same time, bring back the most up-to-date challenges to discuss in class."

—Raksak Kongseng

"The Boston University Arts Administration program has provided me with practical and theoretical knowledge about key topics in the nonprofit industry. Every class has presented an opportunity for applying classwork to real-life situations. When I began, I never realized that I would create some great projects that I am very proud of—[including] crafting a grant for $1 million, working on a consulting project for a Vermont theater, and presenting an artist-in-residency program to a New Hampshire museum. The program has opened doors to new people, experiences, and even a career!"

—Adrienne Lotoski

"This program has opened new doors for me. Not only has it introduced me to the huge possibilities in the world of nonprofit art, but also provided a 360-degree view of the factors that make an organization successful. This course of study allows students to work with real organizations, which helps them gain immediate hands-on experience along with the current situational problems that are discussed in class."

—Sameera Palkar

"Studying at Boston University's Arts Administration program opened my eyes to the endless possibilities of what it means to be an arts administrator. Courses such as Cultural Entrepreneurship, Individual Fundraising, marketing, and the International Travel Study courses all teach essential skills and provide practical, hands-on experience with current operating organizations. With a background in classical voice performance, I love that this program allowed me to continue to be a practicing artist and also develop my skills as an arts administrator."

—Olivia Porada

"The Arts Administration program at Boston University opened the door to the nonprofit art world for me and provided me with the precious chance to learn both cutting-edge theories and practical experiences from leaders in arts organizations."

—Fei Gao
