THE LITURGY OF THE PALMS

The congregation is invited into silent prayer prior to the service.

Prelude
Valet will ich dir geben, BWV 735 J. S. Bach (1685–1750)

In the final bars of the prelude, the Dean invites the congregation to stand.

Call to Worship

The Dean: The Lord be with you.
People: And also with you.
The Dean: Blessed is the one who comes in the name of the Lord!
People: Hosanna in the Highest!

The Dean: Hear from the Gospel according to St. Luke how our Lord Jesus entered Jerusalem:

When he had come near Bethphage and Bethany, at the place called the Mount of Olives, he sent two of the disciples, saying, "Go into the village ahead of you, and as you enter it you will find tied there a colt that has never been ridden. Untie it and bring it here. If anyone asks you, 'Why are you untying it?' just say this, 'The Lord needs it.'" So those who were sent departed and found it as he had told them. As they were untying the colt, its owners asked them, "Why are you untying the colt?" They said, "The Lord needs it." Then they brought it to Jesus; and after throwing their cloaks on the colt, they set Jesus on it. As he rode along, people kept spreading their cloaks on the road. As he was now approaching the path down from the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to praise God joyfully with a loud voice for all the deeds of power that they had seen, saying, "Blessed is the king who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven, and glory in the highest heaven!" Some of the Pharisees in the crowd said to him, "Teacher, order your disciples to stop." He answered, "I tell you, if these were silent, the stones would shout out."

Greeting

The Dean: Let us go forth in peace.

People: In the name of Christ. Amen.

Hymn 280

All glory, laud, and honor

St. Theodulph

The Order of the Procession

The Crucifer
The Acolytes
The Children of Marsh Chapel
The Marsh Chapel Choir
The Lectors and The Cantor
The University Chaplains
The Dean of the Chapel and Chaplain of the University

Collect (in unison)

Almighty God, on this day your Son Jesus Christ entered the holy city of Jerusalem and was proclaimed King by those who spread their garments and palm branches along the way. Let those branches be for us signs of his victory, and grant that we who bear them in his name may ever hail him as our Lord, and follow him in the way that leads to eternal life; who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and forever. Amen
The three meditations used in today’s service are taken from Dean Hill’s published writings.

A Palm Sunday Meditation on Personal Sin

Dean Robert Allan Hill

On Meeting Sin Again for the First Time, 2001

The Dean:
Sin is utterly personal. This we understand.

People:
The covenantal commands of the Decalogue have a personal consequence.

The Dean:
For we confess a personal dimension to the apocalyptic sway of sin.

People:
The angels in heaven—and perhaps a few others—may “need no repentance”.

The Dean:
As grace touches ground in Jesus Christ, sin touches sand in personal confessions.

People:
We get lost. It is our nature, east of Eden.

The Dean:
We get lost in sex without love: lust.

People:
We get lost in consumption without nourishment: gluttony.

The Dean:
We get lost in accumulation without investment: avarice.

People:
We get lost in rest without weariness, in happiness without struggle: sloth.

The Dean:
We get lost in righteousness without restraint: anger.

People:
We get lost in desire without ration or respect: envy.

The Dean:
And most regularly, we get lost in integrity without humility: pride.

Anthem

Pueri Habraeorum

Tomas Luis de Victoria (c. 1548–1611)

Pueri Hebraeorum vestimenta prosternebant in via,
et clamabant dicentes:
Hosanna filio David:
benedictus qui venit
in nomine Domini.

The Hebrew children spread their garments in his way,
and cried out, saying:
Hosanna to the Son of David:
blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.

Matthew 21:8–9

A Meditation on the Palms

Dean Robert Allan Hill

Seeing With the Heart: Meditations from Marsh Chapel, 2010

The Dean:
If we believe that life has meaning and purpose

People:
And we do

The Dean:
If we believe that the Giver of Life loves us

People:
And we do

The Dean:
If we believe that divine love lasts

People:
And we do
The Dean: If we believe that justice, mercy, and humility endure
People: And we do
The Dean: If we believe that God so loved the world to give God’s only Son
People: And we do
The Dean: If we believe that Jesus is the transcript in time of God in eternity
People: And we do
The Dean: If we believe that all God’s children are precious in God’s sight
People: And we do
The Dean: If we believe grace and forgiveness are the heart of the universe
People: And we do
The Dean: If we believe that God has loved us personally
People: And we do
The Dean: If we believe in God
People: And we do

The Dean: Then we shall trust God over the valley of the shadow of death
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust that love is stronger than death
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust the mysterious promise of resurrection
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust the faith of Christ, relying on faith alone
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust the enduring worth of personality
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust that just deeds and merciful words are never vain
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust the Giver of Life to give eternal life
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust the source of love to love eternally
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust that we rest protected in God’s embrace
People: And we shall
The Dean: Then we shall trust in God
People: And we shall.
THE LITURGY OF THE PASSION

Psalm 31:9–16

The antiphon is sung twice, first by choir alone, and then by choir and congregation.

Cantor: Be gracious to me, O LORD, for I am in distress;
my eye is wasted from grief, my soul and body also.

People: For my life is spent with sorrow, and my years with sighing;
my strength fails because of my misery, and my bones waste away.

Cantor: I am the scorn of all my adversaries, a horror to my neighbors, an object of dread to my acquaintances;
those who see me in the street flee from me.

People: I have passed out of mind like one who is dead;
I have become like a broken vessel.

Cantor: For I hear the whispering of many—terror all around!— as they scheme together against me, as they plot to take my life.

People: But I trust in you, O LORD,
I say, “You are my God.”

Cantor: My times are in your hand;
deliver me from the hand of my enemies and persecutors.

People: Let your face shine on your servant;
save me through your steadfast love!

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost;
As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Hymn 295 In the cross of Christ I glory (stanzas 1, 2, and 3)
RATHBUN

In keeping with ancient church custom, today’s reading of the Passion Gospel will be done chorally, with members of the chapel community giving voice to the various characters in the lesson. The congregation is asked to read the words assigned to “The Crowd” as indicated below.

Lector: The Passion of our Lord Jesus Christ according to St. Luke, chapter 22, verse 14 through chapter 23, verse 56:

When the hour came, he took his place at the table, and the apostles with him. He said to them, "I have eagerly desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer; for I tell you, I will not eat it until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God." Then he took a cup, and after giving thanks he said, "Take this and divide it among yourselves; for I tell you that from now on I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes." Then he took a loaf of bread, and when he had given thanks, he broke it and gave it to them, saying, "This is my body, which is given for you. Do this in remembrance of me." And he did the same with the cup after supper, saying, "This cup that is poured out for you is the new covenant in my blood. But see, the one who betrays me is with me, and his hand is on the table. For the Son of Man is going as it has been determined, but woe to that one by whom he is betrayed!" Then they began to ask one another, which one of them it could be who would do this. A dispute also arose among them as to which one of them was to be regarded as the greatest. But he said to them, "The kings of the Gentiles lord it over them; and those in authority over them are called benefactors. But not so with you; rather the greatest among you must become like the youngest, and the leader like one who serves. For who is greater, the one who is at the table or the one who serves? Is it not the one at the table? But I am among you as one who serves. You are those who have stood by me in my trials; and I confer on you, just as my Father has conferred on me, a kingdom, so that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and you will sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel."

The congregation remains seated.

Hymn 614 For the bread which you have broken (stanzas 1 and 2) FOR THE BREAD

The lesson continues—

"Simon, Simon, listen! Satan has demanded to sift all of you like wheat, but I have prayed for you that your own faith may not fail; and you, when once you have turned back, strengthen your brothers." And he said to him, "Lord, I am ready to go with you to prison and to death!" Jesus said, "I tell you, Peter, the cock will not crow this day, until you have denied three times that you know me." He said to them, "When I sent you out without a purse, bag, or sandals, did you lack anything?" They said, "No, not a thing." He said to them, "But now, the one who has a purse must take it, and likewise a bag. And the one who has no sword must sell his cloak and buy one. For I tell you, this scripture must be fulfilled in me, 'And he was counted among the lawless'; and indeed what is written about me is being fulfilled." They said, "Lord, look, here are two swords."
He replied, "It is enough." He came out and went, as was his custom, to the Mount of Olives; and the disciples followed him. When he reached the place, he said to them, "Pray that you may not come into the time of trial." Then he withdrew from them about a stone’s throw, knelt down, and prayed, "Father, if you are willing, remove this cup from me; yet, not my will but yours be done." Then an angel from heaven appeared to him and gave him strength. In his anguish he prayed more earnestly, and his sweat became like great drops of blood falling down on the ground. When he got up from prayer, he came to the disciples and found them sleeping because of grief, and he said to them, "Why are you sleeping? Get up and pray that you may not come into the time of trial." While he was still speaking, suddenly a crowd came, and the one called Judas, one of the twelve, was leading them. He approached Jesus to kiss him; but Jesus said to him, "Judas, is it with a kiss that you are betraying the Son of Man?" When those who were around him saw what was coming, they asked, "Lord, should we strike with the sword?" Then one of them struck the slave of the high priest and cut off his right ear. But Jesus said, "No more of this!" And he touched his ear and healed him. Then Jesus said to the chief priests, the officers of the temple police, and the elders who had come for him, "Have you come out with swords and clubs as if I were a bandit? When I was with you day after day in the temple, you did not lay hands on me. But this is your hour, and the power of darkness!"

The congregation remains seated.

Hymn 290 Go to dark Gethsemane (stanza 1) REDHEAD 76

The lesson continues—

Then they seized him and led him away, bringing him into the high priest’s house. But Peter was following at a distance. When they had kindled a fire in the middle of the courtyard and sat down together, Peter sat among them. Then a servant-girl, seeing him in the firelight, stared at him and said, "This man also was with him." But he denied it, saying, "Woman, I do not know him." A little later someone else, on seeing him, said, "You also are one of them." But Peter said, "Man, I am not!" Then about an hour later still another kept insisting, "Surely this man also was with him; for he is a Galilean." But Peter said, "Man, I do not know what you are talking about!" At that moment, while he was still speaking, the cock crowed. The Lord turned and looked at Peter. Then Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said to him, "Before the cock crows today, you will deny me three times." And he went out and wept bitterly.

The congregation remains seated.

Hymn 289 Ah, holy Jesus (stanzas 1 and 2) HERZLIEBSTER JESU

The lesson continues—

Now the men who were holding Jesus began to mock him and beat him; they also blindfolded him and kept asking him, "Prophesy! Who is it that struck you?" They kept heaping many other insults on him. When day came, the assembly of the elders of the people, both chief priests and scribes, gathered together, and they brought him to their council. They said, "If you are the Messiah, tell us." He replied, "If I tell you, you will not believe; and if I question you, you will not answer. But from now on the Son of Man will be seated at the right hand of the power of God." All of them asked, "Are you, then, the Son of God?" He said to them, "You say that I am." Then they said, "What further testimony do we need? We have heard it ourselves from his own lips!" Then the assembly rose as a body and brought Jesus before Pilate. They began to accuse him, saying, "We found this man perverting our nation, forbidding us to pay taxes to the emperor, and saying that he himself is the Messiah, a king." Then Pilate asked him, "Are you the king of the Jews?" He answered, "You say so." Then Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowds, "I find no basis for an accusation against this man." But they were insistent and said, "He stirs up the people by teaching throughout all Judea, from Galilee where he began even to this place." When Pilate heard this, he asked whether the man was a Galilean. And when he learned that he was under Herod’s jurisdiction, he sent him off to Herod, who was himself in Jerusalem at that time. When Herod saw Jesus, he was very glad, for he had been wanting to see him for a long time, because he had heard about him and was hoping to see him perform some sign. He questioned him at some length, but Jesus gave him no answer. The chief priests and the scribes stood by, vehemently accusing him. Even Herod with his soldiers treated him with contempt and mocked him; then he put an elegant robe on him, and sent him back to Pilate. That same day Herod and Pilate became friends with each other; before this they had been enemies. Pilate then called together the chief priests, the leaders, and the people, and said to them, "You brought me this man as one who was perverting the people; and here I have examined him in your presence and have not found this man guilty of any of your charges against him. Neither has Herod, for he sent him back to us. Indeed, he has done nothing to deserve death. I will therefore have him flogged and release him."

Then they all shouted out together,

The Crowd: "Away with this fellow! Release Barabbas for us!"

(This was a man who had been put in prison for an insurrection that had taken place in the city, and for murder.) Pilate, wanting to release Jesus, addressed them again; but they kept shouting,

The Crowd: "Crucify, crucify him!"

A third time he said to them, "Why, what evil has he done? I have found in him no ground for the sentence of death; I will therefore have him flogged and then release him." But they kept urgently demanding with loud shouts that he should be crucified; and their voices prevailed. So Pilate gave his verdict that their demand should be granted. He released the man they asked for, the one who had been put in prison for insurrection and murder, and he handed Jesus over as they wished.
The congregation remains seated.

Hymn 290
Go to dark Gethsemane (stanza 2)

The lesson continues—

As they led him away, they seized a man, Simon of Cyrene, who was coming from the country, and they laid the cross on him, and made him carry it behind Jesus. A great number of the people followed him, and among them were women who were beating their breasts and wailing for him. But Jesus turned to them and said, "Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children. For the days are surely coming when they will say, 'Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bore, and the breasts that never nursed.' Then they will begin to say to the mountains, 'Fall on us'; and to the hills, 'Cover us.' For if they do this when the wood is green, what will happen when it is dry?" Two others also, who were criminals, were led away to be put to death with him. When they came to the place that is called The Skull, they crucified Jesus there with the criminals, one on his right and one on his left. Then Jesus said, "Father, forgive them; for they do not know what they are doing." And they cast lots to divide his clothing. And the people stood by, watching; but the leaders scoffed at him, saying, "He saved others; let him save himself if he is the Messiah of God, his chosen one!" The soldiers also mocked him, coming up and offering him sour wine, and saying, "If you are the King of the Jews, save yourself!" There was also an inscription over him, "This is the King of the Jews." One of the criminals who were hanged there kept deriding him and saying, "Are you not the Messiah? Save yourself and us!" But the other rebuked him, saying, "Do you not fear God, since you are under the same sentence of condemnation? And we indeed have been condemned justly, for we are getting what we deserve for our deeds, but this man has done nothing wrong." Then he said, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom." He replied, "Truly I tell you, today you will be with me in Paradise." It was now about noon, and darkness came over the whole land until three in the afternoon, while the sun's light failed; and the curtain of the temple was torn in two. Then Jesus, crying with a loud voice, said, "Father, into your hands I commend my spirit." Having said this, he breathed his last.

The congregation remains seated.

Hymn 288
Were you there (stanzas 1, 2, and 3)

The lesson continues—

When the centurion saw what had taken place, he praised God and said, "Certainly this man was innocent." And when all the crowds who had gathered there for this spectacle saw what had taken place, they returned home, beating their breasts. But all his acquaintances, including the women who had followed him from Galilee, stood at a distance, watching these things. Now there was a good and righteous man named Joseph, who, though a member of the council, had not agreed to their plan and action. He came from the Jewish town of Arimathea, and he was waiting expectantly for the kingdom of God. This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then he took it down, wrapped it in a linen cloth, and laid it in a rock-hewn tomb where no one had ever been laid. It was the day of Preparation, and the sabbath was beginning. The women who had come with him from Galilee followed, and they saw the tomb and how his body was laid. Then they returned, and prepared spices and ointments. On the sabbath they rested according to the commandment.

A Meditation on the Passion

Dean Robert Allan Hill

Deliver Us From Evil, 2005

_The Dean:_ To the question of evil let us live our answer by choosing the cruciform path of faith.

_People:_ Let us meet evil with honesty, grief with grace, failure with faith, and death with dignity.

_The Dean:_ Let us carry ourselves in belief.

_People:_ Let us affirm the faith of Christ which empowers to withstand what we cannot understand.

_The Dean:_ Let us remember that it is not the passion of Christ that defines the Person of Christ, but the Person that defines the passion.

_People:_ Let us remember that it is not suffering that bears meaning, but a sense of meaning that bears up under suffering.

_The Dean:_ Let us remember that it is not the cross that carries the love but the love that carries the cross.

_People:_ Let us remember that it is not crucifixion that encompasses salvation, but salvation that encompasses even the tragedy of crucifixion.

_The Dean continues—_

Let us remember that it is not the long sentence of Holy week, with all its phrases, dependent clauses and semi-colons that completes the gospel, but it is the punctuation to come in seven days, the last mark of the week to come in 168 hours, whether it be the exclamation point of Peter, the full stop period of Paul or the question mark of Mary—Easter defines Holy Week, and not the other way around. The resurrection follows but does not replace the cross. The cross precedes but does not overshadow the resurrection. It is Life that has the last word and so we may pray, in the strong hope of being heard: “Deliver us from evil”

_The congregation remains seated._

Community Life and Offertory

At the Offertory

O vos omnes qui transitis per viam, attendite et videte:
Si est dolor similis sicut dolor meus.
Attendite, universi populi, et videte dolorem meum.
Si est dolor similis sicut dolor meus.

O vos omnes
Richard Dering (c.1580–1630)

O all ye that pass by the way, attend and see:
If there be any sorrow like to my sorrow.
Attend, all ye people, and see my sorrow:
If there be any sorrow like to my sorrow.

Hymn 297

Beneath the cross of Jesus

A Benediction in the words of Thomas Merton

The Dean:
Let Your divinity shine on my intellect by giving it divine knowledge, and on my will by imparting to it the divine love and on my memory with the divine possession of glory.

People:
Let us so act that by means of this loving activity we may attain to the vision of ourselves in Your beauty in eternal life.
The Dean: Awaken and enlighten us, Lord, that we might know and love the blessings which You ever propose to us.

People: Awaken and enlighten us, Lord, that we might understand that You have moved to bestow favors on us and have remembered us.

Response
God be in my head
arr. John Rutter (b. 1945)

God be in my head and in my understanding. God be in mine eyes and in my looking.
God be in my mouth and in my speaking. God be in my heart and in my thinking.
God be at mine end and at my departing.
Old English Prayer from Sarum Primer

Postlude
Fugue in C minor, BWV 537/II
J. S. Bach (1685–1750)

Those planning to join the chapel membership at the Easter Vigil on April 20 should gather briefly with Dean Hill in the chancel following the postlude.
