ON DECEMBER 6 WE CELEBRATE THE FEAST DAY OF ST. NICHOLAS (270-346 C.E.): BISHOP OF MYRA, CHRISTIANITY’S CHAMPION AND PATRON SAINT OF CHILDREN, AND KNOWN TO US TODAY AS ST. NICK OR SANTA CLAUS. BUT THIS YEAR HE WILL NOT BRING GOOD CHEER TO THE ESTIMATED 152 MILLION CHILDREN ENSLAVED IN FORCED LABOR AND DEBT BONDAGE, MANY OF WHOM MAKE THE PRODUCTS WE WILL BUY AS CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR FRIENDS AND FAMILY.

Fortunately, we can help unshackle both St. Nicholas and the children that continue to inspire his legend. With careful shopping, we can change demand for manufacturers and retailers, who push suppliers to deliver goods at ever-lower costs and thus encourage extreme forms of exploitation to make those goods. We no longer have to participate in supply chains that bind children to misery.

Please consider the following:

Consider materials and places of origin

The United States Department of Labor bi-annually releases a list of products imported into the United States that are most likely to be tainted by forced labor or child labor. The list consists of 148 goods from 76 countries (ten goods, one country more than last report).

The leading/most problematic materials cited were:
- Gold from Nigeria and 20 other countries;
- Sugarcane from Belize and 17 others;
- Bricks from India and 17 others;
- Coltan (in most electronic devices) from the Democratic Republic of Congo;
- Cotton from Uzbekistan and 16 others;
- Coffee from Brazil and 16 others;
- Christmas decorations from China;
- Cocoa from Cote d’Ivoire and 6 others;
- Textiles from Viet Nam and 4 others;
- Garments from Malaysia and 9 others;
- Fish from Indonesia and 11 others.

Most forced labor and child labor in the United States occurs in the agricultural, restaurant, hotel/motel, and janitorial industries.
Check on specific companies and products:

Many Holiday fairs, shows, and farmers’ markets in the Greater Boston area showcase the works of local artists, craftspeople, and specialty farmers.

The AFLCIO has a list of union-made/made-in-America goods and foodstuffs for holidays and household needs at https://www.pinterest.com/aflcio/made-in-america. Also, their holiday gift guide can be found at https://aflcio.org/MadeInAmerica (be sure to scroll down the whole page).

Suppliers of Fair Trade Goods

- From Equal Exchange: https://shop.equalexchange.coop/
- From Not For Sale: http://www.notforsalecampaign.org/holidaygiftguide/
- From the Fair Trade Federation: http://www.fairtradefederation.org/findmembers/
- From FairTrade: https://www.fairtrade.net/products.html
- From FairTrade Certified: https://www.fairtradecertified.org/products
- From The World FairTrade Organization: https://www.wfto.com/find-supplier

Consider alternatives

Make, bake, or otherwise create personalized gifts, using materials that are local, union-made, and/or Fair Trade.

Exchange all or a portion of your gifts through organizations such as Heifer Project International, www.heifer.org, or Plan International, https://plan-international.org/, that directly address the poverty that lures and forces children into slavery.

Give the gift of time. Write up invitations to a meal, or the sharing of a task, or the enjoyment of a project or trip together. What would your family member or friend most like or need from you?

Long-term, consider joining a Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) program for fresh, local fruits, herbs, and vegetables, or join a community buyer’s coop for local goods.

Don’t Shackle St. Nick!

Instead, in his memory be an informed, ethical gift giver this Christmas.

This Advent season of waiting for a Child should not be a time to be complicit in the misery of children.

Patronize informed, ethical companies, and promote positive change.

PEACE ON EARTH, GOOD WILL TO ALL
MERRY CHRISTMAS!

For more information or to join the conversation, contact Rev. Victoria Hart Gaskell at vgaskell@bu.edu