Boston University’s impact extends far beyond Commonwealth Avenue, Kenmore Square, and the Medical Campus. Our students, faculty, and alumni go all around the world to study, research, teach, and become a part of the communities in which they live. BU is the fourth-largest private university in the country today and was recently invited to join the Association of American Universities, an elite organization of the leading research universities in the United States and Canada. As a measure of its global reach, Boston University is currently engaged in more than 400 separate research, service, and educational programs and projects around the world.

Enduring commitments to teaching, research, global education, and community engagement are the touchstones of Boston University’s proud past and promising future.

In the rich tapestry of Boston University’s history, one thread runs true: quality teaching by an excellent faculty. Students benefit from direct instruction by dedicated professors who are actively engaged in original research and scholarship, as well as from the University’s combination of a strong liberal arts foundation and exceptional professional programs. Many students work closely with faculty mentors to advance the frontiers of human discovery. Opportunities for educators and researchers to collaborate across disciplines leverage the breadth and depth of the University’s program offerings.

Since its founding, Boston University has embraced two principles that have come to define higher education today: a conviction that higher education should be accessible to all, and a belief that the pursuit of learning is enhanced by direct engagement with the community and the world.

Boston University has made a commitment to providing educational opportunity without regard to race, class, sex, or creed from its beginning, and this has led to a number of momentous “firsts”: the first to open all its divisions to women, the first to award a Ph.D. to a woman, the first coeducational medical college in the world. Martin Luther King, Jr., perhaps our most famous alumnus, studied here in the early 1950s, during a period when nearly half of this country’s doctoral degrees earned by African American students in religion and philosophy were awarded by Boston University.

For many at Boston University, a commitment to serving and shaping the world is formed while still a student. The early dream of engagement “in the heart of the city, in the service of the city” has been deeply and abidingly realized in numerous ways: through the University’s twenty-year partnership with the Chelsea Public Schools, the more than $139 million in scholarships provided to graduates of the Boston Public Schools via the Boston Scholars program and the new Boston Public High School Community Service Award, and the pioneering merger of the BU Medical Center Hospital and Boston City Hospital. Students and faculty regularly engage in a broad range of both formal and informal community service activities.

Boston University’s academic community reaches near and far. Today, the University’s sixteen schools and colleges enroll more than 33,000 students from all fifty states as well as the District of Columbia and three U.S. Territories and 134 foreign countries. The nation’s first collegiate international exchange program was created here in the nineteenth century. Since then, Boston University’s Study Abroad offerings have grown to include nearly one hundred programs in twenty-six countries. This global emphasis is integrated into the on-campus curriculum, with courses and programs that bring an international perspective to subjects from anthropology to zoology.

Today’s graduates take their place in a long line of alumni whose inclusive and engaged educational experience prepared them to help serve, shape, and improve the world.
An A.S.L. interpreter for guests with hearing impairment will be stationed on the field, in front of the accessible seating area. A large-screen, real-time, open-caption video feed will also be available for the deaf and hard of hearing at this site. The First Aid Station is located in the Boston University Children’s Center, 32 Harry Agganis Way, adjacent to the stadium. It is staffed by Emergency Medical Technicians. The Lost & Found Counter is in the lobby of the Boston University Police Headquarters, next door to the Children’s Center.
The Metcalf Medals

The Metcalf Medals are conferred upon winners of the Metcalf Cup and Prize for Excellence in Teaching and the Metcalf Awards for Excellence in Teaching. On the back of each medal is engraved the winner's name; on the front appears a portrait of Dr. Arthur G. B. Metcalf (1908–1997) crafted by the late Dr. John R. Silber, who served as President from 1971 to 1996. Dr. Metcalf, an alumnus, faculty member, and founder and endower of the Metcalf Awards, served on the Board of Trustees from 1956 to 1997 and was the Board’s Chairman from 1976 to 1994, when he became Chairman Emeritus. The Cup and Prize medal is struck in gold, the Award medals in silver.

The Metcalf Cup and Prize
For Excellence in Teaching

The Metcalf Cup and $10,000 Prize were created by an endowment gift from the late Dr. Arthur G. B. Metcalf, an alumnus and Trustee of Boston University. Candidates are nominated by students, faculty, or alumni, and finalists are selected by a screening committee of faculty and students. The committee’s recommendation is then forwarded to the University’s president. “The purpose of the prize,” Dr. Metcalf stated at the time of its creation, “is to establish a systematic procedure for the review of the quality of teaching and the identification and advancement of those members of the faculty who excel as teachers, of which this cup is symbolic.”

The Metcalf Awards
For Excellence in Teaching

Metcalf Awards are given annually to one or more of the finalists in the competition for the Cup and Prize. Each winner of the Metcalf Award receives $5,000. As President Robert A. Brown has said, “Teaching is an art. It is the essential function of a university, as it is our mission to mold the next generation of informed citizens and creative thinkers. Boston University is committed to educating students to be reflective, resourceful leaders in an interconnected world. We accomplish this through the work of great teachers, men and women who inspire their students. They encourage exploration, debate, cooperation, the pursuit of the unknown, and discovery; they introduce ancient wisdom and the latest scholarship. The Metcalf Awards recognize and encourage outstanding teaching and thereby support our fundamental mission.”
Deborah Vaughan is Professor of Anatomy and Neurobiology at Boston University’s School of Medicine. Her research concerns characterizing the effects of advancing age on the central nervous system.

For more than 30 years, Professor Vaughan’s commitment to educational innovation has inspired students and colleagues alike to take their own medical research and pedagogical methods to the next level. An early adopter of instructional technologies, she has championed new teaching tools and methods to address students’ individual learning styles. By leading regular faculty workshops through BU’s Center for Excellence & Innovation in Teaching, she enthusiastically extends her approach to fellow instructors as well.

In the words of one nominator, “Dr. Vaughan’s greatest attribute is fostering the development of future physicians, scientists, and educators in the biomedical sciences. Her passion for her craft is almost palpable. I have not seen anyone more committed to teaching and education…. She works tirelessly, holds her students to the highest standards, and each year instills in hundreds of students the excitement and reward of learning.”

Central to Professor Vaughan’s philosophy is a respect for her students and an expectation for their high achievement. For Professor Vaughan, this means not only providing a grounding in the fundamentals of anatomy and neuroscience, but also regular discussions about professionalism and compassion toward colleagues and patients. The result is a teacher and mentor perennially praised by legions of medical, dental, and graduate students.

Professor Vaughan earned her B.A. in Biology from the University of Vermont and holds a Ph.D. in Biology from Boston University, where she completed her postdoctoral work in Neuroanatomy. The author of a histology textbook and dozens of seminal publications in neuroscience, she has garnered numerous teaching honors, including twice winning the Medical Campus’s Educator of the Year Award.
John Finnerty is Associate Professor in the Department of Biology in the College of Arts & Sciences. His interdisciplinary research centers on biodiversity and the impact of various environmental stressors over time on marine invertebrates.

Over the course of his 14 years at BU, Professor Finnerty’s infectiously interactive classroom style has immersed students in the full scientific process, from forming hypotheses to producing “scientific deliverables” for society at large. He pursues a singular philosophy: to teach students how to be scientists with commitment to intellectual honesty and lifelong curiosity about the world around them.

Professor Finnerty’s nominators describe him as “without question, one of our most dedicated and effective teachers in both the classroom and laboratory,” and cite his efforts in the development of new courses and pedagogy, the integration of teaching and research activities, and the mentorship of undergraduate and graduate students in original research. To engage students in the process of discovery, he even devised his own interactive laboratory manuals.

Students who enter Professor Finnerty’s classes and labs in Marine Science, Evolution & Development, and Biodiversity are asked to approach scientific inquiry through multiple disciplines, often incorporating genomics, genetics, molecular biology, developmental biology, and ecology, among others. Professor Finnerty regularly threads his own research into lectures and exercises, challenging students to think critically and contribute to discussion. Well-rounded researchers are the result—21st-century scientists able to consider multiple perspectives in answering some of biology’s most vexing questions.

Professor Finnerty earned his B.A. in Biology from the University of Pennsylvania and holds a Ph.D. in Organismal Biology from the University of Chicago, where he completed his postdoctoral work in Evolutionary Developmental Biology. He is the author of dozens of widely cited papers and journal publications and has been awarded numerous grants from the National Science Foundation.
Carol B. Jenkins

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION, ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

Carol Jenkins is Associate Professor in the Elementary Education Program in the School of Education. Her research focuses on elementary-level literacy, with a concentration on writing development and instruction of young learners in urban settings.

Professor Jenkins has for 23 years earned praise preparing aspiring educators for both the rigor and reward of classroom teaching. Evaluations of Professor Jenkins are routinely sprinkled with such words as “knowledgeable,” “passionate,” “creative,” and “dedicated” to describe a teaching style that combines original pedagogy with immersion in demanding, real-world classroom settings. Among those settings is the William Monroe Trotter Elementary School in Dorchester, where BU students collaborate closely with Trotter faculty in a unique partnership Professor Jenkins developed. Many BU students report being transformed by the program—inspired by the experience, and deeply motivated to make a difference in their own classrooms.

“What raises Professor Jenkins beyond the many excellent teachers at BU is the role she has played in creating outstanding career pathways for her students,” writes one nominator. “Many of them come in with very limited exposure to real urban schools, to high-needs settings, and to students from backgrounds very different from their own…. She has provided our undergraduate students with a career-shaping experience.”

Professor Jenkins challenges students intellectually and emotionally to explore divergent views, to develop a passion for teaching, and to put into practice what they’re learning—from lesson plans and curriculum development to thoughtful interaction with children. This learning process never ends: Professor Jenkins has developed lifelong connections with students, many now award-winning teachers themselves.

Professor Jenkins earned her B.S. in Elementary Education and a Master’s in Education from Northeastern University. She holds a Ph.D. from Boston College. She has written dozens of foundational publications on childhood literacy, regularly presents at professional conferences, and consults for Massachusetts school systems.
We are proud and pleased this year to present the Boston University Medallion to a special honoree, the Mayor of Boston, Thomas M. Menino.

In recognition of the extraordinary accomplishments achieved throughout his long and distinguished career in public service, the University has elected to name its long-standing merit scholarship program for graduates of Boston public high schools, which began in 1973, as the Thomas M. Menino Scholarship Program. Recipients of these merit scholarships will be known as Menino Scholars.

The longest-serving mayor in the history of Boston, Thomas Menino has been a champion of education at all levels in the City. He has worked to bring about meaningful reforms in the City’s public school system, to forge partnerships between the colleges and universities in the City with local public schools, and to develop a reasonable and fair system for all schools to share voluntarily in supporting City services. In addition, he has recognized the role universities and colleges play in strengthening the economic and cultural base of the City, and with this in mind he has been a keen supporter in the rational planning and development of campus facilities throughout Boston.

Thomas Menino was born in Boston’s Hyde Park neighborhood in 1942. He served on the City Council from 1984 to 1993, when he became Acting Mayor. In November of that year, he was elected to his first full term, and has been re-elected four times, achieving commanding majorities in each election. He served as president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors from 2002 to 2003, and he has earned numerous awards and honors throughout his career, including Boston University’s Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, in 2001.
HONORARY DEGREES

Morgan Freeman
DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Born in Memphis, Tennessee, in 1937, Morgan Freeman took up acting at a young age, winning a statewide drama competition in Mississippi at age 12. After serving in the U.S. Air Force, he studied acting and dance in Los Angeles and later found roles in musical theater and films. He made his Broadway debut opposite Pearl Bailey in an all-black revival of Hello, Dolly! in 1968, and later gained broad national exposure on PBS’s The Electric Company.

In theater, he earned his first Obie playing the title role in Coriolanus in 1980, and additional awards for roles in The Gospel at Colonus and the stage version of Driving Miss Daisy.

Mr. Freeman made his breakthrough into major films with Brubaker in 1980, with Robert Redford. He received his first Academy Award nomination, and won the National Society of Film Critics Best Supporting Actor Award, for Street Smart in 1987.

He earned the Golden Globe Award, along with an Oscar nomination and many other honors, for best actor for his 1989 performance in Driving Miss Daisy.

For his role as Red in The Shawshank Redemption in 1994, Mr. Freeman received Oscar and Golden Globe nominations. For Million Dollar Baby in 2004, he received his fourth Oscar nomination and his first win, for best supporting actor. He received a fifth Oscar nomination for his 2009 portrayal of Nelson Mandela in Invictus.

With more than seventy films over his career, Mr. Freeman has established himself as a leading figure in Hollywood. He has played roles that range from a freed slave, to president, to God. With his rich and distinctive voice, he has served as narrator for many films, including March of the Penguins, and he provides the introduction to the CBS Evening News.
Robert S. Langer was born in Albany, New York, in 1948 and graduated from Cornell University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he is now the David H. Koch Institute Professor. After earning his Sc.D. in Chemical Engineering at MIT, Dr. Langer spent three years as a postdoctoral fellow in cancer research at Children’s Hospital in Boston. Since then, he has become one of the world’s most recognized and cited researchers working at the interface of engineering and the life sciences, where he is credited with pioneering novel drug delivery systems and tissue engineering.

He is one of the most important leaders currently engaged in the fields of biotechnology and medicine. He has developed many new life-saving technologies, including, for example, transdermal delivery systems that allow the administration of drugs without needles. His research has also focused on new ways to grow tissue and organs, including creating new polymer systems for tissue engineering. Dr. Langer has written some 1,200 articles, which have been cited in the scientific literature more than 80,000 times. He has 815 issued and pending patents worldwide, which have been licensed or sublicensed to more than 250 pharmaceutical, chemical, biotechnology, and medical device companies.

Over the course of his career, he has earned more than 220 major awards in science, including the National Medal of Science in 2006 and the National Medal of Technology and Innovation in 2011. In 1989, Dr. Langer was elected to the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences, and in 1992 he was elected to both the National Academy of Engineering and to the National Academy of Sciences. He is one of the very few people who have been elected to all three of the National Academies and the youngest in history, at 43, to receive this distinction.
Peter D. Weaver

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Bishop Peter D. Weaver was born into a parsonage family in Greenville, Pennsylvania. He studied at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Drew University, and Boston University; was ordained a deacon in the United Methodist Church in 1967 and an elder in 1969; and was elected to the episcopacy in 1996.

In Pittsburgh, he served as pastor of the Whitaker United Methodist Church, and as senior pastor of the historic Smithfield United Church and the First United Methodist Church. During his time in Pittsburgh, he launched ministries serving a broad range of people, from urban children to corporate leaders. He was co-founder of the Bethlehem Haven Shelter for Homeless Women and helped start the interfaith “One Voice Against Racism” movement. He also wrote for various publications, had a weekly radio program, and taught at Drew Theological Seminary and Pittsburgh Theological School.

After he was elected Bishop, he served the Philadelphia area until 2004. Over thirty new congregations were started, and he established major new partnerships with the Nigeria and Congo Conferences. He also served on the boards of Drew University, Albright College, and Wesley College; was a part of the Leaders Forum of Philadelphia; and a founding member of the “Good Schools Pennsylvania” public education reform effort.

In 2004, Bishop Weaver was assigned to the New England Conference, with more than 600 congregations and partnerships with churches in West Angola and Nicaragua. From 2004 to 2006, he was president of the Council of Bishops of the United Methodist Church, serving and visiting churches worldwide, and he served on the Board of Trustees of Boston University from 2004 to 2012. In retirement, he has begun a four-year term as Executive Secretary of the Council of Bishops in Washington, D.C.

Wendy Kopp

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Wendy Kopp, a native of Austin, Texas, attended Princeton University. There, for her undergraduate senior thesis in 1989, she developed a proposal for an organization that would address problems of educational inequality in America. Her idea called for recruiting outstanding recent college graduates from all academic fields who would commit two years to teach in urban and rural public schools, with the expectation that many of these people would become lifelong leaders in the education community.

From that proposal, she founded Teach For America, serving as CEO until earlier this year, when she became Chair of the Board. Ms. Kopp has spent more than twenty years working to expand the organization’s impact. Under her leadership, Teach For America’s nearly 38,000 participants have reached more than three million children nationwide during their two-year teaching commitments. Many have sustained their commitment as alumni of the program, working inside and outside the field of education to ensure educational excellence and equity for all children.

Ms. Kopp is also chief executive officer and co-founder of Teach For All, a global network of independent social enterprises that are working to expand educational opportunity in nations around the world by recruiting and developing promising future leaders to commit two years to teach in high-need areas and become lifelong leaders for educational excellence and equity in their countries.

Ms. Kopp is the author of the bestseller A Chance to Make History: What Works and What Doesn’t in Providing an Excellent Education for All and One Day, All Children: The Unlikely Triumph of Teach For America and What I Learned Along the Way. She is also the recipient of numerous honors and awards for public service. She resides in New York City with her husband, Richard Barth, and their four children.

Unofficial list of graduates. The actual award of honors at Commencement, reflected on diplomas, is based on students' final academic averages. Because of publication deadlines, the lists in this book were compiled using Fall 2012 grade point averages and may, therefore, omit the honors of some students who earned them.

Unofficial list of graduates. The actual award of honors at Commencement, reflected on diplomas, is based on students’ final academic averages. Because of publication deadlines, the lists in this book were compiled using Fall 2012 grade point averages and may, therefore, omit the honors of some students who earned them.

Unofficial list of graduates. The actual award of honors at Commencement, reflected on diplomas, is based on students’ final academic averages.

Because of publication deadlines, the lists in this book were compiled using Fall 2012 grade point averages and may, therefore, omit the honors of some students who earned them.

Unofficial list of graduates. The actual award of honors at Commencement, reflected on diplomas, is based on students' final academic averages. Because of publication deadlines, the lists in this book were compiled using Fall 2012 grade point averages and may, therefore, omit the honors of some students who earned them.

ACADEMIC TRADITIONS

ACADEMIC DRESS: The academic dress worn by today’s graduates reflects a tradition begun in the late twelfth century, when universities were taking form. Originally the dress may have had a practical purpose: to keep the student warm in unheated buildings. Today it is ceremonial. American colleges and universities subscribe to a code of academic dress first adopted in 1895. The Academic Costume Code is divided into three parts: caps, gowns, and hoods.

The traditional cap is the mortarboard, which is worn by our bachelor’s and master’s degree candidates. The colored tassels worn from the mortarboards identify the graduate’s discipline or field of study. Boston University’s doctoral candidates wear an octagonal tam with gold tassels.

The gown for the bachelor’s degree is simple, with open sleeves. The master’s gown has a long, curved extension at the bottom of the sleeve, and is narrow at the wrist. Bachelor’s and master’s gowns are always untrimmed. The more ornate doctoral gown is faced with velvet and features three velvet bars on each sleeve. The velvet is black for all disciplines except law, dentistry, and medicine, which are faced with those fields’ traditional colors: purple, lilac, and green. The sleeves are bell-shaped and billowing.

Bachelor’s candidates at Boston University do not wear hoods as part of their dress. The master’s hood is three and one-half feet in length, and the doctoral hood is four feet with panels on the sides. The lining of the hoods is unique to the university: every university, according to the Academic Costume Code, has a distinct pattern. The Boston University hood is lined with a single white chevron on a scarlet field. The color of the velvet edging of the hood corresponds to the graduate’s field of study. Academic disciplines and associated colors seen at today’s Commencement include:

- Arts, Letters, Humanities—white
- Business, Management—drab
- Dental Medicine—lilac
- Education—light blue
- Engineering—orange
- Fine Arts—brown
- Law—purple
- Medicine—green
- Music—pink
- Philosophy—dark blue
- Physical Therapy—teal
- Public Health—salmon
- Sciences—yellow
- Social Work—citron
- Theology—scarlet

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION: The University Marshal presides over the Academic Procession, standing at the front of the platform. He raises the mace to signify that Commencement is ready to begin; as he lowers it, the music begins and the graduates begin to march onto the field. The graduates are then followed by the alumni and faculty processions. The platform party follows the faculty; the President is the last person in the procession. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the University Marshal leads the President and the platform party off the field, followed by the faculty and alumni. There is no student procession at the end of Commencement. Graduates and guests are asked to remain in their places until the platform party and faculty have left Nickerson Field.

PRESIDENT’S COLLAR: The collar is a chain of repeating decorative links. Such collars were often worn in the Middle Ages as a badge of office. The Boston University collar, symbolizing the office of the President, is composed of the University seal alternating with the letters BU; a larger seal is suspended from it. The collar was designed in the 1980s by the late Dr. Arthur G. B. Metcalf, alumnus, Associate Founder of the University, and Chairman Emeritus of the Board of Trustees.

MACE: The mace was originally a weapon of war; heavy, often with a spiked metal head, it was designed to damage an opponent’s armor. It has evolved into a symbol of institutional authority. The academic mace, representing the authority of the university, is carried at the front of formal academic processions.

The Boston University mace was also designed in the 1980s by Dr. Metcalf. It is fashioned of sterling silver and has two University seals intertwined on the button end. In today’s ceremony, it is borne by the University Marshal.
