Core and an English Major

Core classes are conducted as seminars, capped at 16 students, led by full-time faculty. Core students form a close relation with faculty and other students both in class and in optional extra-curricular activities, while developing the skills necessary for success in upper-level seminars in their major.

Core Humanities provides an invaluable context for the study of English literature by studying crucial works within a larger context of philosophy, art, music, and religion, that reaches from ancient Mesopotamia to 20th-century Europe and America. Core also explores works such as the Analects of Confucius, the Daodejing, and the Bhagavad-Gita, as a contrast to the perspectives of the Western tradition.

Core Social Sciences further broadens a student’s understanding of Western culture by moving from historians and ethnographers such as Herodotus, Thucydides, Tacitus and Ibn Khaldun, to authors such as Hobbes, Tocqueville and Marx whose works still shape the modern world.

Finally, Core Natural Science studies not only the natural world and our relation to it, but also how human beings’ relation to nature is interconnected with human culture.

Core classes integrate a study of the Humanities, Social Sciences and Natural Sciences. Students generally take CC 101 and CC 102 in their first year; however, as long as the Humanities courses are taken in order, Core classes can be taken at any time during your BU career.

Students who complete Core have “Completed the Interdisciplinary Core Curriculum in Arts and Sciences” recorded on their official Boston University transcript. Students who complete the Core with a grade of at least B+ in their Core classes are eligible for Core Honors.

Core, Hub requirements, and your schedule

Since Core satisfies your Hub general education requirements there is plenty of room to complete the program alongside your major requirements. Students who take all of Core fulfill all Hub and Writing requirements. For example:

- CC 101 gives Hub credit for Global Citizenship, Aesthetic Exploration, and Creativity / Innovation.
- CC 102 gives WR 120 credit and credit for Oral / Signed Communication.
- CC 111 and 212 give Hub credit for Scientific Inquiry I and II and Quantitative Reasoning I and II, as well as for Teamwork / Collaboration and Critical Thinking.
- CC 112 and 211 give Hub credit for Social Inquiry I and II as well as Global Citizenship, Historical Consciousness, Critical Thinking and a Writing Intensive course.
- For English majors CC 101 and 102 together count for EN 221.

For students pursuing a double major, Core classes can be a valuable asset. Find our factsheet about equivalencies at www.bu.edu/core/about/factsheets to learn how Core courses count toward credit in particular majors.
