Attendance and grading
Attendance at lectures and seminar discussions is essential. Absences will be weighed seriously and would bring down your final grade, which is determined by your seminar instructor, based on a combination of written work, examinations and participation: seminar papers 55%, mid-term exam 15%, final exam 20%, and participation 10%.

Website
Refer to the Core website (www.bu.edu/core) for the music of Mozart and art of the romantics.

The Core Writing Center is available for help throughout the semester. Writing Tutors are graduate and undergraduate students who have been trained in grammar and compositional skills and are familiar with the works read in the Core. To make an appointment with a tutor, stop by the Core Office (CAS 119) or call 353-5404. Tutors’ offices are in the Core Office.

Academic Conduct: We expect the work you perform in this course to be your own. Presenting the work of someone else as your own is plagiarism, and it will be punished by an F for the assignment and possibly for the course as well, with possible further sanctions by the University Academic Conduct Committee. The Boston University Academic Conduct Code describes plagiarism as including each of the following: “copying the answers of another student on an examination, copying or substantially restating the work of another person or persons in any oral or written work without citing the appropriate source, and collaboration with someone else in an academic endeavor without acknowledging his or her contribution” (p. 2). Websites consulted for use in written work should be acknowledged; unacknowledged use of material from the internet will be considered plagiarism. A more detailed discussion with examples appears on pp. 9-14 of the Code. It is your responsibility to read these pages carefully and know exactly what constitutes plagiarism.
