A series of 5 modules—each with a trainer and participant manual and a supporting Microsoft Powerpoint™ presentation—all on one CD. Intended for use by family members, or by professionals co-teaching with family members, to teach professionals how to work more effectively with families of people with psychiatric disabilities.

Manuals are in pdf file format, which can be viewed and printed using free Adobe Acrobat Reader™ software. Manuals can be printed as needed for individual participants and multiple training sessions. Microsoft Powerpoint™ software is required for viewing the supporting presentations.

Modules include:

- Recommended readings for trainers and participants
- Training content and guidelines
- Exercises for participants
- Sample contract for participants
- Pre-Post training evaluation

Module 1: The Family Experience of a Family Member with a Psychiatric Disability

Describes historical perspective, experiences, and recovery process for families of people with psychiatric disabilities.

Module 2: Changing Family Roles

Describes the new roles that family members assume when they face the crises of a family member with a psychiatric disability and teaches professionals how they can support family members in their new roles.

Module 3: Family and Practitioner Needs for Information, Skills, and Support

Presents conceptual framework for understanding the needs of families and professionals; sources of family satisfaction and dissatisfaction with mental health services; the knowledge, skill, and attitude needs of practitioners who want to be effective in their efforts to assist families; and ways professionals can provide information to families.

Module 4: Family/Professional/Consumer Collaboration

Describes why it is important for practitioners to work collaboratively with families and people with mental illnesses and outlines specific and easily accomplished suggestions for practitioners who want to work collaboratively.

Module 5: The Role of Family Members in Recovery

Presents a conceptual framework for understanding the role of family members in recovery and ways professionals can assist family members in their recovery roles.
