

Center for Psychiatric Rehabilitation eCast
June 2011

Conference Board: Please SHARE this news!

As a community service, the Center for Psychiatric Rehabilitation provides mental health, wellness, rehabilitation and recovery organizations and associations with the opportunity to bring meetings and conferences to the attention of the field.

For this purpose we have created a Conference Board at:

<http://www.bu.edu/cpr/resources/CPRConferenceboard.html>

Suggested postings for this Community Conference Board can be submitted to bernardK@bu.edu. The CPR cannot promise that all submissions will be posted. Links to the originating site should be provided. Information on materials and other important news for the field can be found in our monthly eCast.

Summer Book Promotion!!

During the summer of 2011, we're offering a 50% off discount for the book, Psychiatric Rehabilitation by William Anthony, Mikal Cohen, Marianne Farkas, and Cheryl Gagne. It examines the historical, conceptual, and empirical base of psychiatric rehabilitation, and it offers a vision for the future. This book is recommended for educators, researchers, and advocates—anyone interested in understanding and serving the needs of persons with psychiatric disabilities. It is a valuable resource for staff development and for classroom use in courses in rehabilitation counseling, psychology, psychiatry, psychiatric nursing, and social work.

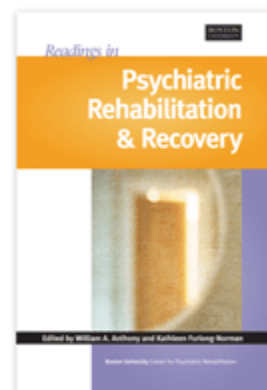

For more information about the book, go to:

For information about any of our products, contact Sue McNamara at suemac@bu.edu or

New Book!! Readings in Psychiatric Rehabilitation and Recovery

Readings in Psychiatric Rehabilitation and Recovery is a supplemental book of readings to further explore the concepts, philosophy, and practices of psychiatric rehabilitation. This book is an excellent resource for students of psychiatric rehabilitation, professionals, consumers, and advocates—or for anyone interested in understanding the needs of persons with psychiatric disabilities.
