The Institute on Culture, Religion & World Affairs
fall 2010 SEMINAR SERIES
The Institute for Philosophy and Religion

“The Secular, Secularizations, and Secularisms”

José Casanova, Department of Sociology, Georgetown University

Respondent: Adam Seligman, Institute on Culture, Religion and World Affairs, Boston University

Wednesday, September 15  5pm

Boston University School of Law Barristers Hall
765 Commonwealth Ave, First floor

José Casanova is Professor of Sociology and Senior Fellow at the Berkley Center for Religion, Peace, and World Affairs at Georgetown University. Previously he served as Professor of Sociology at the New School for Social Research in New York for twenty years, from 1987 to 2007. He has published widely in the areas of sociological theory, religion and politics, transnational migration, and globalization. His most important work, Public Religions in the Modern World (Chicago, 1994) has appeared in Japanese, Spanish, Italian, Polish and Arabic editions and is forthcoming in Indonesian, Farsi and Chinese. He is presently working on two main projects, “Rethinking Secularization: A Global Comparative Perspective” and “Transnational Migration, Transnational Religion and Diversity.”