Dear Incoming Residents,

This July, as you begin your post-doctoral residency program at Boston University, you will continue on an exciting path in dental education. Completing this journey will likely be challenging; it will only be achieved through perseverance, hard work, and dedication. Thus, it is important to create and use your network – your personal support system of family and friends – as well as your new Boston University Henry M. Goldman School of Dental Medicine family for support and guidance throughout your journey.

Student Affairs will be an integral part of your time at the Henry M. Goldman School of Dental Medicine. Our mission is rooted in a desire to provide resources and integrated support in a collaborative manner that will enable you to progress through your educational and career pathway. Boston University has an abundance of resources, and it is our goal to ensure that you can access all of these tools. Student and resident wellness in all its forms – emotional, social, physical, environmental, occupational, financial and spiritual – is the core of all of our Student Affairs programming.

Throughout your program, we encourage you to engage with peers, professors, staff, alumni and administration. These individuals will be keys to unlock an enriching educational experience, allowing you to grow and develop your skills as an oral healthcare professional, and as an individual.

I, along with the Student Affairs team, look forward to welcoming you to Boston University and the Henry M. Goldman School of Dental Medicine. We eagerly anticipate the opportunity to get to know each of you and help you make the most of your residency experience. Please contact us anytime you encounter challenges, have questions, or would like to share ideas.

Kindest regards,
