Text
Walter Nicholson and Christopher M. Snyder: Microeconomic Theory: Basic Principles and Extensions, 12th edition, South-Western, 2016. Each student should have access to a copy of the textbook. Copies have been ordered by the BU bookstore.

Prerequisites
Students are expected to be familiar with multivariate calculus and constrained optimization.

Academic conduct
It is a student's responsibility to know and understand the provisions of the CAS Academic Conduct Code. Cases of suspected academic misconduct will be referred to the Dean's Office.

Classroom conduct and participation
Students are expected to attend all lectures. Each lecture will build on the knowledge acquired in the previous one and, if you miss a class, you are responsible for getting the lecture notes from your classmates. Please do not use electronic devices such as phones, ipads, computers, etc. during the lectures.

Examination
There will be one midterm exam and one final examination. The final exam covers material discussed after the midterm (That is, the final is not cumulative). The midterm exam will be held at the regular class time, and the final examination will be held at the regularly scheduled time shown below. This date and time cannot be changed. The location for the final examination will be announced later. Unless you have a documented health problem or family emergency, if you fail to take an exam, your score for the missed exam will be zero.
Grading weights:
Midterm : 40%
Final: 60%

Exam dates
Midterm: March 15, 12.20 – 1.35 pm
Final

Make-up exams
No make-up exams will be given unless acceptable reasons can be provided as defined by the university.

Homeworks
A set of homeworks will be distributed throughout the semester. The homeworks will not count towards the final grade and need not be handed in. Solutions will be posted on the course website.
