CENTRE FOR EUROPEAN STUDIES

UNDERGRADUATE STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMME

The CES Study Abroad Programme welcomes undergraduate students for a semester or year of interdisciplinary study of European affairs. It is a great way to experience first-hand a fascinating culture, to learn from regional experts about European politics, economics and societies and to make wonderful memories that will last a lifetime.

Objectives

Our aim is to introduce students to the inner workings of the European Union and its institutions, as well as to teach them about Poland's role in the EU and the CEE region. Undergraduate students are also encouraged to partake in our study trips as a fun way to complement classroom learning and to see for themselves the transformations in Central and Eastern Europe.

Study Trips

Undergraduate students are also encouraged to take part in our study trips as a fun way to complement classroom learning and to see for themselves the transformations in Central and Eastern Europe. Every semester, an integration trip and one week-long educational trip (which is covered by the cost of tuition) are organised for students to enjoy and gain practical experience on the topics they are learning about. Students visit with local government officials, EU representatives, cultural and social organisations.

"Everyone comes here from different backgrounds, studying different majors, and here we're all on the same page. The subjects are really interesting, and the professors help us out as much as they can. A huge part of the reason I came to Krakow was to learn about where my family came from, and we get to do that with the classes that are offered here."

Paul, USA

"Although I've had a lot of classes I've also had time to explore. Krakow's a great central location for travelling. I went on both study trips this semester, and the one to Bosnia and Croatia has been the highlight of my whole stay here. It really exceeded my expectations."

Kasia, USA
