Spring 2018 Seminar Series

Evergreen lectures provide an excellent opportunity to hear BU faculty and noted experts share their interests, expertise, and research on a wide variety of subjects. If you plan to attend, please register at least a day in advance of the first session, and use the enclosed Registration Form or visit bu.edu/evergreen/seminars.

Is a Violent Crime Wave Sweeping the Nation? Understanding the Construction of Crime Myths and Justice, with Mary Ellen Mastrorilli

Wednesdays, March 14, 21 & 28
10:30 a.m.–Noon
GSU Conference Auditorium
775 Commonwealth Ave., 2nd Floor

Explore the myths and realities of crime and justice in the United States in this series of lectures. Presented by Mary Ellen Mastrorilli, associate professor of the practice in the Department of Applied Social Sciences at Metropolitan College, this seminar series will focus on the growing female offender population, the death penalty as a means of crime control, and the fear of missing children.

$40
Best Short Stories, with Taline Voskeritchian

Wednesdays, April 4, 11, 18, 25 & May 2
1-2:30 p.m
Metcalf Science Center (SCI)
590 Commonwealth Ave., Room 117

Taline Voskeritchian, lecturer in BU’s College of Communication and longtime contributor to the Evergreen Seminar Series, discusses work from Best American Short Stories 2017, edited by Meg Worlitzer. In preparation for the first class, students are asked to purchase their own copy of the collection and read the introduction, “A Small Sacrifice for An Enormous Happiness,” by Jai Chakrabarti, as well as “The Chicane,” by Amy Hempel. $60

Women of New England: Musicians, Painters & Authors, with Virginia Eskin

Wednesdays, March 7, 14 & 28
1:30–3 p.m
GSU Conference Auditorium
775 Commonwealth Ave., 2nd floor

World-renowned pianist and lecturer and longtime Evergreen program contributor Virginia Eskin will showcase and explore the New England region and its effect on creative souls over the years, with a focus on female artists. Eskin will perform compositions, and demonstrate through music how the sounds of nature are represented in music via birdsong and the depiction of mountains, insects, and flowers. In addition, she will describe how abstract concepts are channeled using harmonies and literature. $40
AUDITING A COURSE

Boston University offers hundreds of courses on fascinating topics, taught by world-renowned scholars—and any person 58 or older may register to audit BU classes, becoming part of a rich exchange of knowledge.

For auditing fees, consult the enclosed Registration Form or visit bu.edu/evergreen/auditing. Evergreen students are responsible for any course-related fees, such as applied music, technology, or lab fees, etc.

The last day to add classes is January 31, 2018.

Step-by-step auditing instructions:

1. Choose a course. Visit bu.edu/reg and select “Registration,” then “Class Schedule.”

2. Complete the enclosed Auditing Registration Form. Failure to complete fully can cause delays in processing.

3. Attend the first class to obtain the instructor’s signature (required). Acceptance is at the discretion of the instructor.*

4. Submit the signed registration and conduct forms, with payment, to the Evergreen office (755 Commonwealth Avenue, Suite B18) during the Spring 2018 registration period: Weekdays, January 18–31, 10 a.m.–3 p.m.

Please note: No forms will be accepted after the registration period.

* Auditors are not accepted in courses offered through: CPE, ENG, GMS, KHC, LAW, MED, PDP, SDM; any creative writing courses; any Food & Wine courses; any non-credit certificate courses; any online courses; any film production courses. Visit our website for additional restrictions.

“The Evergreen program has allowed me to explore many new areas of interest and to dive more deeply into more familiar topics. I have taken courses in art, music, Shakespeare, philosophy, history, and political science—in both large classes and small seminars. The faculty and students are very welcoming and open to Evergreen participant opinions.”
