COURSE SYLLABUS

Course Description

Examines the evolution of British foreign policy over time, as well as the nature of Great Power rivalry. Key themes include formulation of national diplomatic strategies, policy coordination, diplomatic vs. military considerations, alliance politics, and policy over-stretch.

Objectives

To provide an understanding of the nature of Great Power rivalry and to gain insight into the underlying factors affecting international relations, as well as to consider how governments develop and implement policy. The focus of the course will be the development of British policy overseas, and given the history of British policy it will involve considerations of events in all regions of the world, illustrating the evolving inter-locking nature of British foreign policy. Key themes running through the course are the formulation of national diplomatic strategies, policy co-ordination, the relationship of diplomatic and military considerations, alliance politics, and policy over-stretch.

Requirements

Mid-term examination	25% (14 March)
Research Paper	25% (18 April)
Comprehensive final examination.	50% (tba)

Research Paper

A research paper (10-15 pages) on a topic supportive of course objectives. Topics should be discussed in advance with the instructor.

Final manuscript will be submitted no later than the beginning of class on the date indicated. A hard-copy and an electronic copy submitted through Turnitin.com is required. Turnitin.com instructions will be provided.

Late turn-in of assignments, without prior written permission will be penalized with a failing grade. There will be no opportunity for work for extra credit. Make-up examinations will be administered only for excused absence.

Academic Conduct

All class members are expected to maintain high standards of academic honesty and integrity. Cases of suspected academic misconduct will be referred to the Dean's Office. A copy of the Academic Code of conduct is available at <http://www.bu.edu/academics/resources/academic-conduct-code/>. This should be read by all students.

Students are reminded that attendance is required, and reasons for non-attendance should be notified to the instructor.
