DASH for Health

This voluntary program is designed to help you eat better, exercise better, lose weight, and lower blood pressure; it was developed by physicians at BU and Boston Medical Center.

What is DASH for Health?

DASH for Health is an online nutrition and weight loss program that is FREE to all Boston University employees and up to three of their adult household members. Its aim is to help you learn better eating and exercise habits and it was designed right here at BU by a team of doctors and nutritionists lead by Dr. Tom Moore, on the Medical Campus.

New information is provided on the DASH website twice each week. Articles cover food, food preparation, eating out, losing weight, getting fit, and much more. In addition to providing new information each week, you have a web page especially for you where you can track progress in areas such as your weight, food intake, blood pressure, and exercise. The program has been tested with several thousand people and there is good evidence that people who use the program successfully reduce their weight, lower their blood pressure, and improve their eating habits. It’s recommended by the American Heart Association.

DASH Eating

All nutrition advice is based on the DASH Diet—a diet with more scientific proof behind it than any other eating plan. The DASH Diet is a well-balanced, easy-to-understand way of eating that gives you lots of choices, and it is scientifically proven to help you lose weight and lower blood pressure and cholesterol levels.

How do I Enroll?

To learn more about DASH for Health, go to www.bu.edu/hr/health-wellness/wellness-programs/dash-for-health-nutrition-program and enter your BU username and Kerberos password. ESPlannerPLUS and MaxiFi Planner

Traditional financial planning asks you to do all the hard work; it makes you set your own savings and life insurance targets. This puts you at risk. Set your targets too low, and you’ll undersave and under-insure. Set them too high, and you’ll oversave and over-insure.

ESPlannerPLUS, developed by Boston University Professor Laurence Kotlikoff and other leading economists, finds the right targets. It calculates your family’s highest sustainable living standard and the amounts you need to save and insure to maintain that living standard over time.

BU is providing faculty and staff with a coupon equal to the purchase price of two versions of the software. All you pay is the sales tax.

1. ESPlannerPLUS is a downloadable lifetime financial planning tool. It calculates what you should save, spend, and insure to maintain your household’s living standard through time. Whether it’s choosing careers, switching jobs, taking Social Security, managing retirement accounts, downsizing your home, or moving states, ESPlannerPLUS can find safe ways to significantly raise your living standard. ESPlannerPLUS includes Monte Carlo and Upside Investing features. In addition to entering average nominal rate of return on assets with options to change those rates at some future date, users can choose the standard asset classes or create your own for the Monte Carlo and Upside Investing analysis.

To purchase ESPlannerPLUS, contact BU Human Resources at hr@bu.edu for your coupon code. Go to https://www.esplanner.com/esplannerplus and select ‘Add to cart’. Enter your coupon code to cover the purchase price of the software and proceed to checkout. You will need to pay the sales tax using your credit card.

2. Maxifi Planner Powered by the patented Economic Security Computation Engine, this web-based financial planning tool allows you to build a lifetime financial road map using all your financial data. The software takes the guesswork out of financial planning and shows you lifetime and annual projections of your income and spending so you can see how you can make your money last and maintain a stable living standard through retirement.

Maxifi Planner provides a Base Plan and a Maximized Plan so you can see how to use various strategies to safely increase your fixed and discretionary spending. It can find the best Social Security filing strategy to secure the highest benefits, present a tax-efficient retirement account withdrawal strategy and also show you the value of annuitizing assets.

It also helps households at any stage answer life-changing financial decisions: Should I take that new job? Can I afford a house? Should we move to another state?

Learn more about how MaxiFi Planner works at www.maxifiplanner.com/how-it-works

To purchase MaxiFi Planner, contact BU Human Resources at hr@bu.edu for your coupon code. Go to https://maxifiplanner.com/households and select ‘Add to Cart’. To use the code, just enter the coupon code at checkout and click apply. Then proceed to the next page and it will indicate that no payment is needed and the account will be created when you complete the checkout process. You will receive a login link at the email address that you used during the checkout process just like their paying customers do.
How Can Income Solutions Help You?

When you are ready to begin receiving your retirement income, an income annuity is one option you may want to explore. Income Solutions provides you with the tools necessary to easily convert all or a portion of your retirement assets into an annuity which provides a steady income stream you cannot outlive. Through Income Solutions, you are able to purchase income annuities at a group discount or wholesale prices compared to some of those offered in the retail marketplace. Such an annuity is not part of any Boston University retirement plan.

An annuity is a long-term contract between an annuitant and an insurance company in which the annuitant receives income payments at regular intervals from a fixed date for a specific fixed period of time and/or until death in return for the premium that the annuitant pays to the insurance company. There are advantages and disadvantages associated with annuities which you should carefully consider. You may wish to consult your own financial advisor, at your own expense, as to whether an annuity is appropriate for you.

Use the Annuity Income Calculator

By accessing Income Solutions through Boston University’s website, you will be able to use the income calculator. After you answer several questions, estimates for each of the immediate fixed income annuity options available through Income Solutions will be provided along with a definition of each type. You may want to try calculating several scenarios before determining which best meets your personal circumstances. Once you have an idea of what your needs are and which annuity option(s) may make sense for you, you may request quotes.

Boston University pays the entire cost of Unemployment Compensation and Workers’ Compensation and also contributes to the cost of your Social Security benefits.

Statutory benefits may provide you and your family with financial assistance, in addition to University-sponsored benefits, when you are injured on the job, become disabled, retire, or die.

Social Security

The Social Security Act provides a range of programs to afford you a basic level of benefits in the event of your retirement, death, or disability. Most of these benefits are financed by payroll taxes.

Your Social Security benefits include:
- Retirement insurance
- Survivors’ insurance
- Disability insurance
- Medicare
- Supplemental security income

Social Security benefits are adjusted frequently, and the rules and regulations change. You should contact your local Social Security office to obtain the latest information about the benefits to which you may be entitled.

Unemployment Compensation

The University pays the Commonwealth of Massachusetts the cost of your unemployment compensation. You may be eligible to receive unemployment compensation benefits if you lose your job through no fault of your own. Unemployment compensation is coordinated through the Massachusetts Division of Unemployment Assistance, which determines your eligibility.

Workers’ Compensation

Massachusetts Workers’ Compensation laws prescribe certain medical, hospital, disability compensation, rehabilitation, and death benefits to be paid in the event of injury or death due to work-related accidents or illnesses. Boston University pays the full cost of insurance to cover these benefits. You are automatically covered by this insurance while you are employed by the University.

If you are injured while you are at work, report the injury to your supervisor immediately. Remember, minor injuries (which at the time may seem trivial, but may later require medical attention) may also be covered, provided they are reported when they occur.

Severance Pay Plan

A severance pay plan is available to eligible staff members. See your Employee Handbook for further details.
