NEW! Graduate Certificate Program in Jewish Studies

Beginning in fall 2011, the Tam Institute for Jewish Studies (TIJS) will coordinate a new graduate certificate program providing formal recognition of a Jewish studies focus for PhD students working in any department of Emory's Laney Graduate School. The program offers supplemental training in methods and languages; exposure to cross-disciplinary perspectives; funding opportunities for research, study, and travel; and mentoring in the professional culture of Jewish studies. Participants will be part of a vibrant intellectual community that brings together students and faculty members from across the university.

Fellowship Opportunities for work in Jewish studies.

TIJS also offers several top-off fellowships to support PhD students pursuing Jewish studies topics in any discipline. These fellowships supplement the generous departmental fellowships and tuition waivers awarded to all accepted PhD students. No separate application is required; departments and programs will nominate appropriate candidates who are offered admission.
