I. Introduction – “What’s Inside?”

This packet contains registration deadlines, credit requirements, WebReg instructions and tips for using the system, a guide to useful information on the web, and advice on choosing your courses from Associate Dean Stacey Dogan. Please be sure to read all of the information in this packet carefully before you choose your classes. You may contact the Law School Registrar's Office at (617) 353-3115 or by e-mail to lawreg@bu.edu with any questions. 2019-2020 course descriptions and schedules will be available on the Student Link and on our website in late April.

The information in this packet and in the PDF descriptions and schedules was correct as of the date it was issued. Inevitably, changes occur and courses are added or must be dropped after these materials are produced. The school regrets any inconvenience this may cause, and we will endeavor to minimize disruption. Students should be certain to pay attention to any announcements the Registrar's Office makes regarding updates to these materials. These updates will be available on the School of Law web pages.

II. University Requirements for Registration

Boston University policy requires all students studying on Massachusetts campuses to provide an emergency alert phone number and update their local address each semester. In addition, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts requires all full-time and many part-time university students to provide proof of having completed a series of immunizations. Massachusetts also requires students from out-of-state to complete an acknowledgement of the MA Motor Vehicle Policy. For more details visit the University Registrar’s website. Finally, you must complete University-wide Training on Sexual Misconduct Prevention. For information about the training, visit the Wellness & Prevention Services website. Check the Student Link to ensure you have met these requirements and that your student account is settled. Students not in compliance will be unable to register.

III. Course Selection and the Lottery

Beginning Tuesday, April 23 continuing law students will have access to the Web Registration (WebReg) options on the Student Link. This system provides a convenient way to access and change course information by simply logging on to the Student Link using your BU Login Name and password. Course Selection is a pre-registration process that allows you to select and prioritize your course preferences for the course registration lottery – it does not enroll you in classes for the 2019-2020 academic year. Your deadline to select and rank your courses is Sunday, June 9. There is no advantage to registering early (course selection is not first come, first served), however you should not wait until the last minute to make your selections. Rising 2Ls – After meeting with your faculty and CDO advisors, don’t forget to email the Registrar's Office (nhaefner@bu.edu) for your advising code. You will not be able to access the registration tools without your code.

WebReg will close promptly at 11:59 pm on June 9. The lottery is run at the end of the course selection period and is maintained so that third-year students have preference for courses and seminars. Over the summer, you will receive notification of the courses for which you are officially registered.
IV. Credit Requirements

Course selections must meet School of Law degree program requirements and should take into account the Bar admission requirements of any state in which you might seek to practice. Students are reminded that you may not exceed 17 credits of “non-grade point average” coursework without Academic Standards Committee approval. You are responsible for ensuring that you satisfy the degree requirements and the following credit hour requirements each year.

V. Course Selection Procedures and Instructions

General Procedures:

- You should select courses for both fall and spring semesters. Failure to register for spring will result in the assessment of late fees.
- You may change your selections as many times as you want prior to the June 9 deadline.
- You must assign a priority ranking to each selection.
- You may not select more than one section of a course in a semester.
- There can be no time overlap of courses in a student's final schedule.
- Dual Degree Students may not use WebReg to register for non-law courses. Please check with the Law Registrar's Office at (617) 353-3115, or with the Registrar's Office of your secondary program regarding deadlines and procedures for that school's registration.
- Students interested in a Supervised Research and Writing Project (Independent Study) must register for the project through the Law Registrar's Office.
- Students accepted into a clinical program are advised to not list the program course components with high priority numbers. However, if you are required to take Evidence concurrently you should assign a high priority to a section of Evidence. Students must be sure to select all components of their clinical program.
- Students accepted into an Externship or Semester in Practice are advised to not list the program components with high priority numbers. Register for both the fieldwork and corresponding seminar course or academic component. Any adjustments to the fieldwork credits can be made as necessary.
- Remember, the courses you select are run through the lottery process after Sunday, June 9 and that a confirmation of which courses you are officially registered for will be mailed to you in early July. You may also confirm your official registration through the Student Link after June 24. (The fall course lottery and spring course lottery will be run separately.)
During the Pre-Registration period, when you click on "Academics" you will find the Registration option among other student services. Please note that the Exam Schedule, GPA Summary, External Credits and Test Scores and Transcript Preview are NOT options for Law Students.

- Click on "Registration."
- You will be asked for your BU Login Name and password.
- Your current schedule will appear.
- Scroll down and click on "Reg Options" which will appear under "Fall 2019 - No Reg activity."

You will have a few options to choose from, including "Pre-Reg Worksheet," "Register for Class" and "Drop Class."

- Click on "Pre-Reg Worksheet". You will be able to add classes to both your Fall and Spring Worksheets – both Worksheets appear under the “Fall 2019” option. Do not confuse “Plan” with the Pre-Reg Worksheet.
- When you click on a semester to add classes, you will be brought to a search page. You can search by school (and receive a complete listing of what is offered for the Law school) or by course # (if you know the specific class you want).
- Once you choose a class, you will be brought to the Pre-Reg Worksheet. Here you can continue to add courses and/or update your preference numbers for each course. Click arrow (↑) next to class to change preferred class sequence for lottery.
VI. Lottery Results and Wait Lists

Overview: You select and rank your course preferences for the fall and spring semesters. At the conclusion of the course selection period, the lottery process is run to enroll students in courses giving third-year students priority. The lottery for fall and spring are run separately. Students will be able to view their preliminary schedules on the Student Link no later than June 24. We will mail course confirmations and any updated course information to registered students in early July. All students will have an opportunity to make changes to their schedule during the add/drop period. Detailed information regarding add/drop procedures is included below.

Closed courses: Every effort will be made to honor indicated course preferences. In the event a student cannot be admitted to all the courses initially elected, admission to closed courses will be determined first by preference and then, if necessary, by lot. (See information below regarding wait lists.)

Closed research seminars: Enrollment priority for closed research seminars will be determined by the rule set above concerning closed courses unless circumstances require the use of a different rule to assure adequate opportunities for satisfying the upperclass writing requirement. (See information below regarding wait lists.)

Undersubscribed courses: If a course or seminar is so under-subscribed as to make it nonviable, the course or seminar may be withdrawn. Notice will be given to students who elected such a course or seminar through notices posted on the website and via e-mail. Affected students will be given an opportunity to select an alternate course.

Wait List Procedures

The Registrar's Office will maintain wait lists for closed courses and seminars. The Registrar will assign open places in these courses and seminars by lot, with preference to third-year students. Within these constraints, students closed out of oversubscribed courses during the course selection process will be given first preference on the wait lists for those courses during the add/drop period.

Adding Your Name to a Wait List: If you have been closed out of a class, you are not automatically placed on a wait list! You must place your name on a wait list for the course or seminar in which you would like to enroll. You may add your name to a wait list through the online form (http://www.bu.edu/law/current-students/jd-student-resources/forms/wait-list-form-for-closed-courses/). The Academic Regulations require that a student attend the first meeting of a seminar or a Contract Drafting, Library Research, Transaction Simulation, or Trial Advocacy section to be considered for enrollment. Be advised that we strongly recommend you attend the first meeting of any closed class if you are on the wait list – many professors will not advise the Registrar to open enrollment to wait listed students beyond the first class meeting.
Class Attendance and Wait Lists: It is important to attend the first class meeting in order to remain eligible to add the class should a space become available. The Registrar will review the wait lists and attendance sheets every day during the add/drop period to determine if any students can be admitted to a closed class from the wait list. We will post lists of students admitted from wait lists online and at the Registrar’s Office on the fifth floor.

How to Register for Wait Listed Courses and Seminars: Students who are admitted from a wait list must complete an add form at our office within 48 hours of that list being posted -- you will not be able to add a closed course through WebReg.

Note: Students who are enrolled in any seminar, Contract Drafting, Library Research, Transaction Simulation, or Trial Advocacy are reminded that you must attend the first class meeting or you will be administratively dropped from the class.

VII. Adding and Dropping Courses

Add/Drop Dates:

</tbody>
</table>

* Students are reminded that during the Fall Add/Drop period, you may also make adjustments to your spring semester schedule. The start date for the spring add/drop periods will be posted to the web during the fall semester.

Note: Clinical Programs have their own add/drop periods and registration requirements. Students should check with the office of the relevant clinical program for specific add/drop and registration procedures.

Late drops and late adds: Adding or dropping courses after the dates designated above will be permitted ONLY with the approval of the Academic Standards Committee, and only upon showing a compelling situation.

Minimum course requirements: A course may not be dropped if the program change will result in a program of fewer than 12 credit hours per semester, or less than 26 credit hours per year unless such a program has been given advanced approval by the Academic Standards Committee.

Academic Regulations
The current academic regulations are available on the School of Law website at http://www.bu.edu/law/current-students/jd-student-resources/jd-student-handbook/. The regulations will be updated over the summer for the 2019-2020 academic year. Continuing students will be notified by e-mail when the updates are posted to the web.

Class Schedules
Meeting days and times are included in our online and printed course descriptions. Full semester schedules are also available on the School of Law website: www.bu.edu/law/current-students/jd-student-resources/schedules-upper-class/.

Closed Course Listing
After the course lottery is run, the Registrar will post a list of closed courses for both the fall and spring semesters. The closed course listing can be found at www.bu.edu/law/current-students/jd-student-resources/course-registration/closed-courses-wait-lists/. Students closed out of a particular course or seminar may then add their name to a wait list for the class. A link to the online submission form will be provided.

Course Descriptions
Through the School of Law website: Visit the BU Law website at www.bu.edu/law/current-students/course-descriptions/ and click on the course name.

Through the Student Link: There are two ways to access the course descriptions. Through the Pre-Reg Worksheet you may view descriptions for fall and spring courses by clicking on the course number.

For fall semester only you may click on “University Class Schedule” and enter the search criteria. To see the full list of JD offerings choose Fall 19, select LAW as the College of Registration and JD as the department. A full listing of JD courses by number should result. The listing includes the meeting days and times. Click on any course number for the course description.

Course Selection Updates
Any additions, corrections, or updated information regarding course offerings will be posted to www.bu.edu/law/current-students/jd-student-resources/course-registration/course-updates/.

Course and Teacher Evaluations
Copies of the statistical reports for current faculty are available on the BU Law website. Bound volumes of each semester’s results are shelved at the beginning of the Pappas Reserve collection.

Faculty Profiles
To learn about faculty, a set of profiles for both full-time and part-time faculty is available on the web at www.bu.edu/law/faculty-scholarship/faculty-profiles/. The profiles describe the background of all current full-time and part-time members of the faculty.

Wait List Form
The online submission form will be available by June 24. You will find it on the School of Law website at www.bu.edu/law/current-students/jd-student-resources/forms/wait-list-form-for-closed-courses/.
X. A Message from the Associate Dean about the Curriculum and Choosing Courses

BU Law provides over 200 different course options for students in their 2L and 3L years: an exciting opportunity for you to make your registration your own. The Course Selection Guide is designed to help you plan your program of study at the School of Law in your second and third years. The Guide includes schedules and registration instructions. The course and seminar descriptions are provided in a separate document and on the web site. We are likely to add a few offerings as we confirm the schedules of part-time faculty members. While you should consider these publications substantially complete, you should also periodically check the web site and any e-mails you receive from the Registrar’s or Student Affairs Offices for updates. Here, Associate Dean Muir and I would like to explain a bit about the courses you are required to take and offer some suggestions about how to approach the process of choosing courses. This is an important process that will impact your experience at BU Law and beyond.

In addition to the advice contained in this memo, which is general, the faculty have collaborated on a series of memos that offer detailed course selection guidance in a number of areas of law. We have memos on business law, constitutional law, criminal law, health law, intellectual property, and international law. Those memos can be found, along with a checklist of academic requirements, bar admission requirements, and other useful information here: http://www.bu.edu/law/current-students/jd-student-resources/academic-advising/.

Graduation Requirements
There are four graduation requirements you must fulfill during your second and third years.

1) You must satisfy the Professional Responsibility requirement. A list of the courses that fulfill this requirement is included in the Course Selection Guide. Students must be sure to fulfill this course using a different class than those used for the experiential education and upper-class writing requirements, as outlined below. If you are entering your third year, be sure to have a clear plan to satisfy this requirement.

2) You must satisfy the upper class writing requirement, which is described in detail in the Student Handbook and in the Academic Regulations. By the beginning of your fourth semester of law school, you must have a clear plan to satisfy this requirement, and ideally the plan should be carried out to completion before starting your last semester of law school. Students must complete their upper-class writing requirement before their final semester, or if not complete prior to their last term, must provide a first-draft to their faculty advisor no later than the last class-day of the fourth week of that final semester. Failure to meet the first-draft deadline may prohibit a student’s timely graduation, and participation in Commencement.

Please note that you must submit the “Intention to Complete the Upper Class Writing Requirement” form to the Registrar’s Office no later than the last day of the add/drop period of the semester in which you intend to satisfy the requirement. Failure to submit this form by the last day of the add/drop period of your fifth semester (fall of the 3L year) will result in notification to the Associate Dean of Student Affairs, and may require submission of a petition to the Academic Standards Committee to add this requirement to your registration. And, as noted above, students must fulfill this requirement in a course that is unique from those used to fulfill the experiential education and professional responsibility graduation requirements.

3) You must take six credits of experiential education. The menu of eligible courses, not all of which are offered every year, is contained in the Course Selection Guide. Completion of the Lawyering Lab during your first year at BU Law satisfies one experiential education credit. This requirement provides a great opportunity for you to apply your substantive knowledge in simulation courses, externships, clinics and other application-based experiences. As noted above, a course used to satisfy the upper-class writing requirement or the professional responsibility degree requirements cannot be applied to the experiential education requirement. This is especially significant for students who seek to apply a clinic seminar to their professional responsibility requirement, as only the fieldwork component of the clinic will be eligible for the experiential education requirement.

4) Students must complete the online, self-paced Business Fundamentals program or opt-out of the requirement by attaining a score of 84% or better on the pre-course exam. You must enroll in the program as a course during the summer, fall, or spring term. Mastery of the material covered in Business Fundamentals will be very useful to you as you tackle upper level courses such as Corporations. Thus, we strongly encourage students to complete this program the summer following the 1L year.

NOTE: In addition, to comply with ABA, New York, and some other state bar requirements, you must complete 64 credits of in-class, faculty-directed, graded work while at BU Law. The following do not count toward the 64 credit minimum: non-graded credits for journal work; moot court direction; courses taken outside of the law school; externship program fieldwork; independent studies; and semesters in practice.

Recommended Course Selections

Students sometimes ask the administration and faculty to provide a list of recommended courses, in addition to those that are required for a BU Law JD degree. It is unlikely that the faculty or practicing attorneys would agree about what courses should be on such a list. A program of courses should reflect a balance between your interests in particular courses or professors, the areas where you expect to practice and the skills you will need, and topics that are foundational or the subject of the bar examination. You should therefore consult your faculty adviser (assigned in your first year at BU), other faculty members, attorneys, and your peers to obtain a range of perspectives that can inform your decisions.

The next few pages nevertheless contain some general advice about course selection. Afterwards you will find additional advice from the Career Development Office. My personal list of courses that almost every law student should take is short:

- Corporations
- Intro. to Federal Income Taxation
- Evidence
These courses all involve issues and terminology that are useful to lawyers in almost every practice area. Not every student needs to take them all, but these courses will contribute to the breadth of your legal education and may lead you to pursue areas of law that are more interesting than you had expected. Complete ignorance of any of them can become a source of professional discomfort to you later on. Even if you have no intention of ever being a tax lawyer, for example, a basic knowledge of that area will at least allow you to participate in conversations about the tax implications of decisions that your clients may face. Being the only one in the room who does not know what “basis” refers to (or what “hearsay” means) is an awkward prospect that you should be eager to avoid.

There are many other courses and seminars that will enrich your experience here. If you do not have a strong view about what practice area you hope to pursue, consider taking some of the foundational courses from this list:

- Bankruptcy
- Criminal Procedure
- Employment Law
- Environmental Law
- Family Law
- Health Law
- Intellectual Property
- Trusts, Wills & Estates
- International Law
- Secured Transactions

This list of courses offers a broad foundation in the largest fields of practice. They are all offered every year, as are most of our large survey courses. Many courses with smaller enrollments are offered every other year, depending on staffing considerations. Keep this in mind in planning your course selections over a two year cycle.

Also, keep in mind that after the first year you may take up to eight total credits of work on an ungraded basis. You either receive credit (CR), or honors (H), or if you do not receive credit for a class (NC), it will be removed from your transcript. Not every course can be taken on these terms, but many can. Our hope is that this rule will encourage you to take coursework that will be valuable to your professional development but that you might have avoided if the result would be a grade on your transcript.

Fields with Formal Concentrations
We offer concentrations in six areas:

1. Health Law
2. Intellectual Property & Information Law
3. International Law (includes commercial law as well as public international law)
4. Litigation and Dispute Resolution
5. Risk Management & Compliance
6. Transactional Practice

Some students complete the requirements of one of these concentrations; others don’t. In either case, though, you may find that the lists of courses in the concentrations (available on the law school website) help you to think about your course selection choices.
Note that the International and Litigation concentrations are quite broad. Students interested in these fields may want to seek further advice from the concentration advisor or concentration faculty on how to tailor course choices to a more narrow focus within the list.

Experiential Education Opportunities

The law school offers a wealth of experiential education opportunities. In these programs or courses you learn by doing and you gain practical skills that allow you to hit the ground running when you enter practice. You should strongly consider participating in one or more of these programs or courses during your second or third year, but it is important to balance and integrate experiential learning with traditional, substantive coursework. Our experiential learning opportunities are fully described on our website, but include:

- “Live client” clinics: civil, criminal, legislative, and transactional clinical opportunities lasting a semester or year involving a broad array of subject matters.
- The Transactional Law Program: a largely simulation-based approach to transactional skills training.
- Externships: a 12 to 20 hour per week experience working in judicial, government, public interest, in-house or private law firm pro bono service.
- Semester-in-Practice: a full-time experience working in government or other sectors inside or outside of Boston.
- Courses or seminars, often taught by part-time faculty who are skilled practitioners, that are predominantly experiential. These offerings are identified on a list of courses and seminars meeting the professional skills requirement, which appears at the end of this memo.

NOTE: Anyone seeking admission to practice in New York must demonstrate that they have performed 50 hours of pro bono service. Work done in our civil, criminal, and legislative clinical programs qualifies as does participation in certain externships. Students planning to take the NY Bar should verify if any particular experience would qualify. http://www.nycourts.gov/attorneys/probono/FAQsBarAdmission.pdf

Seminars

In a typical year, you can choose from among more than 50 seminars at the law school taught by both full-time and part-time faculty on an extremely broad range of subjects, ranging from critical race theory to private equity and venture capital. Depending on the seminar, participation may provide you with an opportunity to hone your writing skills, to gain practice skills, or to delve into an area of interest in greater depth than one would in a traditional course. By all means, take a seminar or two while you are at BU Law, but don’t overdo it. Some employers will look askance at a transcript with more than a handful of seminars.
Courses in the BU Law Graduate Programs or Elsewhere at BU

You may wish to take courses not listed in the course selection booklet. These include graduate courses in other departments of the University, subject to the limits in the Academic Regulations, but also courses offered by our graduate programs in Taxation and Banking and Financial Law. Most J.D. students are well qualified to take most of these courses, and those programs are eager to have you in their classes. Registration for classes in the graduate programs is not done by the Registrar’s Office but by the staff of those programs themselves. See the appropriate sections of this Guide for more details. Students with a clear career path in banking or tax law may wish to consider enrolling in BU Law’s six or seven semester combined JD/LLM programs in these subjects.

Study Abroad Programs

BU Law offers several study abroad programs. In most of these programs, students spend a semester at a foreign school. Some programs have a language requirement, though most offer classes taught in English. Students earn 12 credits, which meets our minimum semester credit requirements. We also offer three year-long, dual-degree study abroad programs, which you can learn more about from the Office of Graduate and International Programs.

Depending on your professional interests, a study abroad program can provide a strong complement to your course of study at the law school. As with all of your course selection decisions, however, you should ensure that the program fits into your area of substantive interest and leaves you room to take other courses that will prepare you for practice.

Balance, Balance, Balance

One of the great strengths of BU Law is the breadth and flexibility of our curriculum, but students must take care in making their selections from this expansive menu. It is fine to specialize in a particular practice area, but balance this with a number of foundational courses in other areas. You never know where your career path will take you. Take interesting seminars and participate in experiential learning opportunities, but not to the exclusion of traditional doctrinal courses. Few students should devote more than half of their upper level credits to seminars, experiential learning, and courses from outside of the JD curriculum. We want you to leave BU Law as a well-rounded and capable practitioner with strong skills and robust substantive legal knowledge.

The Professional Responsibility Requirement

The following courses and seminars satisfy both the BU Law and the New York Bar requirements of a course in professional responsibility. Not all of the seminars will necessarily be offered every year. Students must be sure to fulfill this course using a different class than those used for the experiential education and upper-class writing requirements, outlined below. If you are entering your third year, be sure to have a clear plan to satisfy this requirement.

- Professional Responsibility (the 3 credit course)
- Effective and Ethical Depositions (seminar)
- Professional Responsibility for Business Lawyers (seminar)
- Prosecutorial Ethics (seminar)
- The IRL or ER section of Pre-trial Advocacy in the Civil Litigation Clinical Program
- Access to Justice I in the Civil Litigation Clinical Program
- Criminal Trial Practice Clinic – Professional Responsibility
- Legal Externship Program - Legal Ethics Seminar
The Experiential Learning Requirement

The courses listed below will satisfy the Law School's requirement that members of the class of 2019 and after take at least six credits of experiential learning. The one credit Lawyering Lab will also count toward the credit requirement.

Clinical Programs:
*Note that courses may not be used to satisfy two requirements. If you are using a course component to satisfy Professional Responsibility or your Upper-class Writing requirement, it cannot be counted again for experiential credit.

Civil Litigation and Justice Program – Individual Rights Litigation Clinic, Access to Justice Clinic or Employment Rights Clinic
  IRL/ERC*-The three credit Pretrial Advocacy component may satisfy either the Professional Responsibility requirement or count as credits towards the Experiential Learning requirement. It may not be used for both.
  A2J*- The three-credit fall seminar (Access to Justice I) may satisfy either the Professional Responsibility requirement or count as credits towards the Experiential Learning requirement. It may not be used for both.

Compassionate Release Practicum
Compliance Policy Clinic
Consumer Debt Practicum
Criminal Clinic - All components except for Professional Responsibility
Environmental Law Practicum
Immigrants’ Rights & Human Trafficking – Fieldwork and Seminars
International Human Rights Clinic – Fieldwork and Human Rights Advocacy
Legislative Policy & Drafting Clinic
Sex Crimes Practicum
Startup Law Clinic (previously Entrepreneurship & IP clinic)
Technology Law Clinic – Fieldwork and Seminars

The Graduate Program also offers, as part of its student orientation, an overview of the banking, securities and insurance industries and gives students a useful introduction to basic concepts relevant to financial products and services. The sessions will be scheduled for portions of the day from August 27-29.

JD students are welcome to attend but registration by 8/1/2019 is required.

For more information, please contact the Graduate Program in Banking and Financial Law at banklaw@bu.edu.
Course Offerings in the Graduate Tax Program

Students who are interested in tax law have the unique opportunity to enroll in courses in the Graduate Tax Program (GTP). The GTP’s faculty primarily consists of leading tax professionals drawn from law firms, accounting firms and tax consulting firms throughout New England and from federal and state government revenue departments. These courses are offered Monday through Thursday during the late afternoon and early evening hours. Students interested in learning more about the GTP’s tax offerings are encouraged to contact the GTP office at 617.353.3105 or via email. Registration for GTP courses is not available through WebReg; however, the GTP is happy to speak with you about course selection and registration.

*Please note that JD students are not eligible to enroll in GTP online sections or online courses.

Please note that this curriculum is subject to change, for the most up to date information contact the GTP or visit their website.

Course descriptions and a list of pre and co-requisites are also available on the GTP website.

XIII. Registering for Non-Law Classes

Upper-class students may take classes at other colleges within the University. The registration procedure varies – WebReg is not always available – so students are advised to review the information below and to consult the Registrar’s Office with any questions.

Registration is a two-step process for students who want law credit for a graduate-level course (level 500 or greater). Once you have registered for a graduate course, you must complete an add/drop form in the Registrar’s Office in order to add the class to your law transcript. Graduate courses and the grade will appear on your transcript, however the grade is not factored into your law g.p.a. Tuition charges are based on the credits awarded at the University level. Students who exceed 18 credits in a semester will be responsible for the additional tuition charges. Please note that non-law classes do not count toward the 64 credit in-class work at BU Law.

Questrom School of Business

Students who would like to enroll in management courses should go to the Graduate Programs Office at the Questrom School of Business, 595 Commonwealth Avenue, Room 104. The Fall 2019 schedule is available on the Student Link. Course descriptions are also available on the website. Non-degree candidates may register two weeks before the start of classes. For more information on business and management courses you may call (617) 353-2673.

School of Public Health

Student interested in taking courses at the School of Public Health should refer to the SPH website. The course schedule is available on the Student Link. For more information on SPH courses you may call 617-638-4640.

Physical Education

Students who would like to take PE courses can register at the University Registrar's Office, 881 Commonwealth Avenue, second floor. You may not take a physical education course for LAW credit. Copies of the Fall 2018 PDP schedule are available through the Student Link. Information is also available on the University's website.

College of Communication

To enroll in communications courses students should go to the appropriate department at the College of Communication, 640 Commonwealth Avenue (e.g., see the Mass Communication department for courses in Mass Communication, Advertising and Public Relations.) Copies of the Fall 2019 COM schedule are available solely via the Student Link. Course descriptions are available on the University website. For more information you may also call (617) 353-3450.

Graduate School of Arts & Sciences

Students who would like to register for graduate-level CAS or GRS courses may pick up a registration form at the Law Registrar's Office. Schedule information is available via the Student Link. Students who would like to register for Preservation Studies, International Relations, or Philosophy courses must obtain signed approval from the appropriate department and may submit the signed registration form to the Law Registrar's Office.
