Locate the Full Text of Articles

If the journal is not available at BU electronically or in print, you can use our interlibrary loan service (ILL) to request a copy of the article you need. The service is free and most articles will arrive within a few days.

If this is not fast enough, identify a local library that owns the journal (volume and year) you need. Librarians at any Reference Desk will help you start this process using the database WorldCat. You can go to most libraries and copy the article yourself.
