REQUIREMENTS OF THE COURSE

The requirements of this course include (1) a mid-term examination, (2) an analytical paper, (3) a final examination, (4) regular attendance at lecture, and (5) attendance at and participation in a weekly discussion section.

Midterm Examination: Oct, 20, 2:00-3:20 p.m.

Analytical Paper: Due Nov. 15 in lecture

Final Examination: Saturday, December 17, 3:00-5:00 p.m.

The mid-term and final examinations must be taken on the two dates specified on this syllabus. Make-up examinations will be given after the scheduled examination time only for a valid medical reason. Any student who misses the final examination for a valid medical reason must notify the professor or teaching fellow prior to or immediately after the examination in order to receive an "Incomplete" grade and arrange for a makeup examination. If you know that you will be unable to take either of the examinations on the specified date for any reason other than a medical one (athletic events, job interviews, airline flights that cannot be rescheduled, etc.) then you must withdraw from this course and enroll in one that fits your schedule When you receive your midterm examination after it has been corrected, do not discard it. Keep it in a safe place until you have received your final grade for this course so that you will be sure to receive credit for your examination in case your grade was not properly recorded. In addition to the midterm and final examinations, you will be assigned an analytical paper in your discussion section. The nature of the paper assignment and the criteria for determining your grade for the course will be explained in greater detail by your teaching fellow in your discussion section. The analytical paper is due in lecture on November 10 in lecture. Late papers will be penalized five points (on a scale of 100) for each day beyond the due date.

CRITERIA FOR THE ASSIGNMENT OF FINAL GRADES FOR THE COURSE

Mid-Term Examination: 25%
 Analytical Paper: 25%
 Final Examination: 30%
 Participation in Weekly Discussion Section: 20%

GRADES FOR EXAMINATIONS AND ANALYTICAL PAPER

If you do not understand the reasons for a grade that you received on your examinations or on your analytical paper, you may discuss the matter with your teaching fellow. After such a meeting you may discuss the grade that you received with the professor. If you so request, the professor will reread the examination or paper and award the grade that he thinks it deserves.

PLAGIARISM: WHAT IT IS AND HOW TO RECOGNIZE AND AVOID IT

“What is Plagiarism and Why is it Important?”

In college courses, we are continually engaged with other people’s ideas: we read them in texts, hear them in lecture, discuss them in class, and incorporate them into our own writing. As a result, it is very important that we give credit where it is due. Plagiarism is using others’ ideas and words without clearly acknowledging the source of that information. For information about Boston University’s policy on plagiarism, see <http://www.bu.edu/academics/policies//academic-conduct-code/>. Since plagiarism is a form of theft (in this case, theft of ideas or words), it is not tolerated in this university and is punished very severely by the Dean’s Office of the College of Arts and Sciences. Please be certain that you understand exactly what plagiarism is and how to avoid it.

AVAILABILITY OF PROFESSOR AND TEACHING FELLOWS

Professor Keylor holds office hours on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 1:00 to 1:45 p.m. and 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. and by appointment at his campus office, which is located at 154 Bay State Road, Room 301. If you cannot come to his office during his office hours, please get in touch with him to arrange another mutually convenient time to meet. His telephone number is 617-358-0197 and his e-mail address is wrkeylor@bu.edu. His Twitter address is @wrkeylor and his website is located at <http://www.bu.edu/pardeeschool/profile/william-r-keylor/>. Your teaching fellows this semester, Will Edmonstone, Julie Keresztes, and Chris Stokum hold weekly office hours at times and locations that will be announced in your weekly discussion sections. Your professor and your section leader are here to help you. Please do not hesitate to get in touch with them if you have any questions or concerns related to the course!

GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE COURSE

The general subject of this course is the political, economic, and military relations among the major countries of the world since the end of the Second World War. Some of the themes covered will include (1) the causes and consequences of the Cold War from its origins in Europe to its extension to Asia, Africa, Latin America, and the Middle East; (2) the formation of the non-aligned bloc of nations seeking to avoid a choice between the two “superpowers;” (3) the emergence of regional conflicts and tensions unrelated to the Cold War in many parts of the world; (4) the creation and evolution of the postwar international economic order; (5) the disintegration of the European colonial empires and the emergence of independent states in Africa, Asia, and the Middle East; (6) the rise of the People’s Republic of China, the recovery of Japan as a major economic power, and their increasingly important roles in Asia; (7) the end of the Cold War and the breakup of the Communist bloc; and (8) the emergence of a new international order in what has been called the era of globalization.
