For Immediate Release
April 2010

The Photographic Resource Center at Boston University is pleased to announce our upcoming exhibition, EXPOSURE: The 15th Annual PRC Juried Exhibition (April 23 – June 20, 2010). Please join us on Friday, April 23, 2010 from 5:30 – 7:30pm for a reception with the artists.

This highly regarded international competition is a great opportunity to see new talent and ideas in the photographic arts. This year, the PRC was honored to have Mia Fineman, Senior Research Associate from the Metropolitan Museum of Art NY as our juror. Fineman selected 12 artists from over 200 national and international submissions.

Fineman stated, “To look at more than 2,000 pictures over the course of a single day – and to grant each one the attention and consideration it deserves – is a task that requires concentration, alacrity, and a delicate balance of generosity and rigor. It also helps to be well caffeinated.

In choosing the work for this exhibition, I was especially interested in photographs that don’t look like pictures I’ve seen somewhere before – photographs with a vivid spark of originality by artists willing to take a few risks. Each of these pictures communicates something, each has a story to tell or some particle of meaning to convey — even if it’s not the kind of story or meaning that is easily translated into words.”
