

Learning Outcomes

- Students graduating with the B.A. in Predental Science are expected to demonstrate mastery of concepts, topics, and methods in the physical and life sciences that are considered foundational for the study of dental medicine.
- Students graduating with the B.A. in Predental Science are expected to demonstrate focused knowledge of an academic discipline or interdisciplinary field of study through the completion of a minor.
- Students graduating with the B.A. in Predental Science are expected to demonstrate academic integrity and mature conduct as a member of the university community.
- Students graduating with the B.A. in Predental Science are expected to demonstrate mastery of the first year of the preclinical curriculum at Boston University's Henry M. Goldman School of Dental Medicine.