

Questions for The Dialogue

Question One:

Tell us about an experience you've had –at any time in your life- when you were aware of an economic difference –a difference in economic resources- between you and one or more others, and its effects on you. This should be an experience that affected you; that stuck with you; that still is alive in some way for you. 2 min. each

Question Two:

How does your faith commitment affect how you experience, feel about and manage economic differences between you and others, either in work, school, family, worship or on the street? 2 min. each

(We will not have time for the following question. But if you ever want to use this format for a dialogue, you could include it.) Question Three:

When facing this issue personally, either in your thinking or action, where do you find yourself puzzled about what to do?
