

Theologies and Practice of Healing Justice in a Time of State Violence

Saturday, September 16th
8:30 am to 4:00 pm
STH Community Room

The Program on Religion and Conflict Transformation (RCT) at the Boston University School of Theology prepares religious leaders to become a resource for peace in a multi-cultural, multi-faith world.

Boston University School of Theology

This is a required retreat for all students in the RCT program that are seeking the Religion and Conflict Transformation Certificate from the BTI.

Najeeba Syeed

Peacemaker, Healer, Scholar and Lawyer

*Associate Professor of Interreligious Education and Director, Center for Global Peacemaking
Claremont School of Theology*

Prof Syeed is an award-winning scholar/practitioner in the areas of faith based restorative justice, just peacemaking and community development/ organizing. She has served as an expert interventionist in conflicts ranging from interracial gang mediation to interfaith community disputes. See: najeeba.com

NonStudent Cost: $30    CEU's available through STH
Lunch Provided

PreRegistration Required by Sept.8th    Please email: rct@bu.edu