

THOMAS J. DUDLEY

Tom Dudley has a wide breadth of experience in Senior Leadership roles in technology and manufacturing businesses, specializing in semiconductor and optical component product lines. His business career has spanned large multi-national companies such as A&T to growing small companies such as CoreTek, where he executed one of the biggest success stories of the telecom boom. He has been active on Boards and in mentoring growing businesses. For the past eleven years, Tom has served as the Director of Technical Programs and Industry Engagement at the BU Photonics Center, including running the Business Innovation Center.
