The Department of Sociology proudly presents the 2013 - 14 Sociology Seminar Series featuring

Smitha Radhakrishnan

presenting

"Low Profile" or Entrepreneurial? Contradictions of Gender and Cultural Adaptation in the Global Microfinance Industry

Smitha Radhakrishnan is Associate Professor of Sociology at Wellesley College, having completed her PhD at UC Berkeley in 2006. Her qualitative research has explored the multifaceted gendered effects of globalization in urban India, especially with regard to the information technology industry, and more recently, the mircrofinance industry. She is author of Appropriately Indian: Gender and Culture in an New Transnational Class (Duke University Press, 2011). Her articles have appeared in journals such as Theory and Society, Gender and Society, and Qualitative Sociology.

Friday, March 28th, 2014 - 12pm 96-100 Cummington Mall - Room 241

BU College of Arts & Sciences

For more information contact socdept@bu.edu