

Kevin A Coffey graduated from the MSW program at Rhode Island College in 1990. He completed his EdD in Counseling and Human Development at the University of Rochester. He is employed at the University of Rochester Medical Center as a social work clinical coordinator. He is responsible for supervision of the social workers employed in outpatient psychiatry. Further, he consults at The Gay Alliance of the Genesee Valley and teaches at Empire State College. His interests lie in psychotherapy, alternative sexual orientation, trauma, and suicidal behavior. His dissertation explored what risk and protective exist for gay, lesbian, and bisexual youth regarding suicidal behavior.