BOSTON UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK
HIGHLIGHTS of 2019 GRADUATES EMPLOYMENT SURVEY

The employment survey of the School’s 2019 MSW graduates revealed that:

• About 82% of respondents are employed full time in a social work/human services field.
• About 44% of respondents are employed as a clinician/counselor.
• About 21% of respondents are employed as a case manager.
• About 54% of respondents’ primary job function is clinical practice with individuals, families, and/or groups.
• About 10% of respondents’ primary job function is supervisory, program development, administration, and/or management work.
• About 57% of respondents’ job positions require at least a Master of Social Work degree.
• About 34% of respondents are working in a predominantly urban area.
• About 69% of respondents are working at a private, not-for-profit agency.
• About 64% of respondents are extremely or moderately satisfied with the professional challenges at their job.
• About 50% of respondents are extremely or moderately satisfied with the advancement opportunities at their job.
• About 41% of respondents located their first job through a job posting.
• About 80% of respondents feel that BUSSW was “very helpful” or “somewhat helpful” in preparing for practice in the competency areas.
• About 34% of respondents found employment prior to graduation.
• About 83% of respondents are salaried in the range of $40,000-$60,000 annually.