Question at hand:

On March 31, 2015 at 5:20 pm, the Student Elections Commission (SEC) received the following complaint:

On March 31st, 2015, True BU could be seen campaigning outside of Morse Auditorium using a Bon Me food truck. At the table where True BU was campaigning, there was an open laptop used for students to vote. Marwa and Kimberly seen standing at the table were saying phrases like "Vote for True BU." True BU did not properly inform the SEC about the campaign zone and there were no members of the SEC present. Thus True BU is in violation of EC 3.4.10 article C which establishes:

(c) Voting Booths: Active campaigning may not be conducted within twenty yards of any official SEC Voting Booth.

i) Candidates may only hold voting booths or polling places with an active member of the SEC present that must be requested at least 24 hours in advance.

Findings:

March 31, 2015

The SEC met in person to consider this complaint. In an 8-0 ruling, the SEC found Marwa Kimberly not in violation of elections code. Upon further investigation of this complaint, it was found that there was in fact no voting booth set up at the open laptop described in the complaint.
