REQUIRED COURSES
Students in the Human Physiology curriculum will register for the following four courses at the University of Auckland. Each course carries four credits.

CAS SS 315 Aotearoa New Zealand: History and Society
BIO SCI 203 Biochemistry*
STATS 101 Statistics*
SAR HS 410 Internship in Human Physiology

*The availability of Stats 101 and Bio Sci 203 is determined by the University of Auckland. Please check with International Programs before you apply to make sure these will be offered in the semester you would like to attend.

Auckland Internship Program: Human Physiology

Human Physiology majors have a special opportunity to spend a semester in Auckland, New Zealand, the gateway to the South Pacific. BU’s College of Health & Rehabilitation Sciences: Sargent College and the University of Auckland have designed a unique internship curriculum for Human Physiology majors, giving students the chance to gain valuable professional experience in their field while taking courses that fulfill major requirements. Upon successful completion of the semester students receive 16 Boston University credits.

HOST INSTITUTION
With a total enrollment of over 40,000 students, the University of Auckland is New Zealand’s leading institution of higher learning and boasts a comprehensive range of internationally recognized programs of study, outstanding scholars, global reach in the dissemination of research, extensive involvement in overseas programs, and a richly diverse faculty and student body. www.auckland.ac.nz

HOUSING
Participants live in single bedrooms in furnished suites at the Unilodge located in a vibrant urban environment, in the heart of Auckland and within walking distance of the university. Students enjoy unlimited access to university facilities and sports and social activities.

EXCURSIONS
All students will enjoy two excursions to important cultural and historical sites within New Zealand.

ADMISSIONS
- The University of Auckland requires that incoming study abroad students have a minimum overall GPA of 3.0 in order to enroll directly in its courses.
- Refer to our policy on eligibility/admissions at: www.bu.edu/abroad/admissions

PROGRAM DATES
Fall Semester: mid-July–mid-November
Spring Semester: early January–late June

APPLICATION DEADLINES
Fall Semester: March 15
Spring Semester: October 15

2011/2012 PROGRAM COST
Fall: $17,600; Spring: $19,400. Cost includes tuition, housing, internship placement, field trips, and emergency travel assistance coverage. Financial aid is available.