SED ED 210 Exploring Careers in Science Education
For science majors interested in exploring careers in science education. Students will work directly with teachers from CityLab, a biotechnology learning laboratory at BU’s School of Medicine and the Boston Museum Science. DeRosa, Wed, 7:00pm

SED ED 211 Emerging Technologies in Education
Use wikis, blogs, social book marking, photo sharing sites, and podcasting to evaluate your own learning and to create educational materials in this engaging 2-credit evening course. Slate, Tues. 5-6:30pm,

SED ED 212 Intro. to Positive Psychology
Learn about the psychological aspects of living a fulfilling life and build related skills for teaching, coaching, leadership, and/or counseling. Baltzell, Mon., Wed. 9:30-11am, meets 9/10 - 11/22

SED ED 214 Educating Global Citizens
Explore conflict resolution by studying current global events and teaching Boston-area high school students the ‘experiential education’ approach to successful mediation. Hobert, Wed. 11am-12:30pm

SED ED 225* Project Citizen: Promoting Civic Engagement
Apply a model of active citizen engagement to analyze and influence a current public policy of their choice. Examine how teachers apply that model in schools to promote active and informed citizenship. White, Wed. 6-8:30pm, meets 9/5 - 12/5

SED ED 226* Teaching Matters: Current Issues in Education
This introductory course, taught by two urban educators, explores the challenges and promises of teaching in urban schools; critical analysis of current issues such as the achievement gap, No Child Left Behind and MCAS, English Language Immersion law, violence in schools, and urban teaching as a career will be undertaken. Students will have the option of observing in two urban districts. Bryson, Thu. 5-7:00pm

SED ED 245 Peer Counseling
Examines the theory of peer counseling and the development of specific counseling skills. Students enrolled in this class will serve as peer advisors in the CAS First Year Seminar course. Jarvi, Mon. 4-5:30pm

SED PE 250 Community Leadership Through Youth Sport Coaching
Enables students to understand the roles and responsibilities of the youth sport coach and basic coaching skills through coaching theory and practical involvement in a community sport organization. Shea, Wed. 5:30-7:30pm

*Recommended for those students considering Teach for America.

ENHANCE YOUR BU EDUCATION.
Visit www.bu.edu/sed to find out more about how the School of Education can introduce you to becoming an educator.