

Turkish Consulates in the United States

You must apply for your visa at the Consulate that represents the jurisdiction of your permanent address. For some students, this will mean traveling quite far to their Consulate.

Remember that each Consulate may have slightly different requirements for their Education Visa applications, including materials required and whether you can apply by mail. The list of materials above should serve as a general guide. You should contact your Consulate directly to clarify their rules and procedures before applying for your visa.
