THE EIGHT MUST READ AFRICAN NOVELS TO GET YOU THROUGH LOCKDOWN

THE BURIAL OF KOJO

Streaming on: Netflix

The movie follows the story of Esi, as she recounts her childhood and the tumultuous relationship between her father and her uncle. Directed by Samuel Bazawule, the film chronicles the tale of two brothers through the gifted eyes of a young girl who transports the audience to the beautiful lands of Ghana and other worlds that exist between life and death.

KIKI

Streaming on: Hulu

25 years after ‘Paris Is Burning’ introduced the art of voguing to the world, Kiki revisits New York City’s thriving underground ballroom scene. Granted intimate access to the scene, filmmaker Sara Jordenö introduces viewers to some of Kiki culture’s most prominent personalities, going beyond the glamour of the balls to highlight the serious challenges facing queer black and Latino young people.

TWO MEN ARRIVE IN A VILLAGE

By Zadie Smith

"The next day the story of what happened is retold, in partial, broken versions that change depending very much on who is asking: a soldier, a husband, a woman with a clipboard, a morbidly curious visitor from the next village, or the chief's wife, returned from her sister-in-law's compound."

BLOOD IS ANOTHER WORD FOR HUNGER

By Rivers Solomon

Anger is an energy. A young girl, a slave in the South, is presented with a moment where she can grasp for freedom, for change, for life. She grabs it with both hands, fiercely and intensely, and the spirit world is shaken.

TANZANIAN CARTOONIST HAS A STICK FOR EVERY POWERFUL EYE

Godfrey Mwampembwa, popularly known as Gado, has been holding politicians accountable for nearly 30 years. Now, his concern has shifted to the coronavirus.
