

Jimin Oh

270 Bay State Road B30A

E-mail: jmoh@bu.edu

Education

Ph.D. in Economics, Boston University, Expected 2023

M.A. in Economics, Korea University, 2018

Thesis: Impact of Ageing on Inflation

Advisor: Kwanho Shin

B.A. in Economics and Business Administration (Great Honor and High Honors), Korea University, 2015

Fields of Interest

Development, Econometrics, Industrial Organization, and Political Economy

Work in Progress

Political manipulation over central-to-local subsidies: evidence from Japan

Teaching Experience

Instructor, Empirical Economics 2 (Undergraduate econometrics), Boston University, Summer 2021

Teaching Fellow, Econometrics (Masters), Boston University, Fall 2021

Teaching Fellow, Empirical Economic Analysis 2 (Undergraduate econometrics), Boston University, Spring 2021, Fall 2019

Teaching Fellow, Empirical Economics 1 (Undergraduate econometrics), Boston University, Fall 2020

Teaching Fellow, Market Structure and Industrial Organization (Masters), Boston University, Fall 2020

Teaching Fellow, Empirical Economic Analysis 1 (Undergraduate econometrics), Boston University, Fall 2019

Teaching Assistant, Intermediate Macroeconomics, Korea University, Fall 2017

Teaching Assistant, Money and Banking, Korea University, Spring 2017

Research Experience

Research Assistant, 2016

Department of Economics, Korea University

- Worked as a research assistant for Professor Kwanho Shin.
  - Han, Chirok and Kwanho Shin. 2016. “What Explains Current Account Surplus in Korea?” KIEP Working Paper 16-15.
  - Park, Cyn-Young and Kwanho Shin. 2017. “A Contagion through Exposure to Foreign Banks during the Global Financial Crisis.” ADB Economics Working Paper Series No.516.
  - Lee, Hyun-Hoon, Kwanho Shin and Donghyun Park. 2017. “Population Aging and Its Impact on Economic Growth – Implications for Korea –” ESRI Economic Analysis Series No.196

Technical Skills

Stata, Matlab, R, and Mathematica