Hi,

Since you are the placement director at your school, we wanted to make you aware of the following position.

We have a junior search this year at UCSD that's fully in the economics department (in terms of tenure decision down the road) but joint with our "design lab" (in terms of hiring decision and teaching). The ideal candidate would be interested in solving complex social problems and engaging with the community, as well as being entrepreneurial and working in an interdisciplinary environment. Research that centers on the optimal design of policies, organizations, markets, or products and considers how humans and organizations respond could be a good fit for this position.

If there is anyone you think we should look at, let us know. Please also encourage them to learn more about the position and formally apply for it here: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF03481>

Best,

Gordon Dahl
