UNIVERSITY COUNCIL RESOLUTION No. 181/2013

THE UNIVERSITY COUNCIL:

Considering the proposal for the appointment of Dr. Pierre Perron as Doctor Honoris Causa of the Pontificia Universidad Católica del Perú, presented by the Head of the Academic Department of Economics;

CONSIDERING:

That Pierre Perron, Doctor (Ph.D.) in Economics from Yale University and Professor in the Department of Economics at Boston University, is a prominent Canadian economist, considered one of the most important economists in the world in the field of Econometrics, particularly in the theoretical and empirical analysis of time series, structural change, non-stationarity and financial econometrics;

That Dr. Perron has been carrying out a brilliant academic career, during which he has trained numerous classes of economic sciences students, to whom he transmits the valuable legacy of his extensive knowledge and relevant professional experience;

That Dr. Perron has outstanding prestige in the international academic community, thanks to the impact that his writings and approaches have had on contemporary intellectual and academic production, as evidenced by the enormous number of citations taken from his works and used in studies on economics around the world;

That Dr. Perron's knowledge and experience in the field of econometrics is widely required to serve as referee in prestigious publications specializing in economic studies, thus making clear the influence that Dr. Perron's figure has achieved in the media of current international research in economic matters;

That Dr. Perron's ideas and writings have exerted a significant stimulus for research and debate among professors and students of economic sciences within our house of studies;

In use of the powers conferred by subparagraph (f) of article 80 of the University Statute,

RESOLVES:

Appoint Doctor Honoris Causa of the Pontificia Universidad Católica del Perú to Dr. Pierre Perron, in recognition of his outstanding contribution to the development of economic sciences in the international academic community.
