MEDICAL CARE

Following an Incident

Boston University recognizes the emotional, physical, and mental strain that experiencing an act of sexual violence or assault can have on an individual.

Medical care is strongly recommended to ensure the patient's safety and wellbeing. The most common exam after an incident is called a SANE (Sexual Assault Nurse Examination). The emergency room visit and SANE exam are free; students do not need to use their insurance.

These examinations are conducted by a SAFE (Sexual Assault Forensic Examiner), a specially trained and certified professional who will provide needed care, document the details of the assault, and collect evidence.

A SANE is recommended to screen for and prevent sexually transmitted infections, diseases, and pregnancy exposure.

Students can access medical care through BU's Student Health Services.

Employees and other BU community members are encouraged to access the Boston community resources seen on the following page, or to contact a regional hospital for care for violence-related injuries.

SANE Guidelines and Timelines

- A SANE must be given within 5 days or 120 hours of the assault.
- If you suspect you were given any type of drug, seek medical care within hours or days to be able to obtain laboratory diagnostics.
- Emergency contraception must be given within 72 hours.
- HIV emergency post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) must be started within 72 hours of the potential exposure.
- To locate a SANE nurse, visit the Boston Region Designated Hospitals website at: mass.gov/ma-sexual-assault-nurse-examiner-sane-program.

MEDICAL CARE

Following an Incident

Quick Tips:

- Try not to bathe until you can access a medical center
- Keep clothing on or store clothing in linens (not a plastic bag). The hospital will keep the clothes as evidence. If you have changed clothes, bring the ones you were wearing during the incident to the hospital.
- Typically, the hospital staff will call the police to the hospital to take custody of the forensic kit. The individual can choose whether they wish to speak with the police or file a criminal complaint.
- Write down details about the incident (who, what, where, and when.)
- Save social media posts or electronic conversations, written communication, audio or video recordings, photos, receipts, call logs, or any other relevant information.

HELP IS AVAILABLE

Students can contact SARP for support in accessing safe medical care. (SARP does not accompany students to the emergency room.) Call SARP's 24-hour/7 days a week crisis response line at 617-353-SARP (7277). After 5:00 pm or on a weekend/holiday, callers will receive a message saying they have reached SARP; the office is closed, listen for a pause followed by instructions to press 1 to leave a non-urgent voicemail or 2 to speak with the Crisis Counselor on call.

Employees and other BU community members can call BARCC (Boston Area Rape Crisis Center) for support and accompaniment to the emergency room. Individuals can access support by calling the hotline at 800-841-8371.

Reporting Options

It's your decision!

If you choose to report, you have options:

REPORT TO THE UNIVERSITY

Individuals may report using the Incident Report Form found on the EOO website. If you decide to meet with EOO, they can explain the process for resolution and access to Supportive Measures.

CONTACT LAW ENFORCEMENT

Individuals may report to BUPD, or to the law enforcement agency where the alleged conduct occurred. If you report to the police, you are not required to proceed with the case. You can change your mind at any time. The statute of limitations on rape in Massachusetts is 15 years.

INVESTIGATION PROCESS

The EOO investigates and adjudicates the allegation using the evidentiary standard by the preponderance of the evidence.

ALTERNATIVE RESOLUTION

Resolve concerns with the help of a neutral facilitator. All parties must agree to participate in Alternative Resolution, and a complaint can return to the formal resolution process at any time.

You can report to either or both at any time.

Supportive Measures

Supportive measures are individualized services that help restore or preserve access to the University, protect students and employees, or deter sexual harassment. Services are provided before and after filing a complaint, or when no complaint is filed.

Some examples include:

- Academic support or course/program-related adjustments
- Altering work or campus housing arrangements
- Implementing or requesting No Contact Directives
- Safety planning

FROM

Bystander TO Upstander

BU strongly encourages its community members to be upstanders: individuals who take action in defense of those who are targeted for systematic or individual harm or injustice. Learn how to interrupt and challenge situations that normalize discrimination and potential violence.

Start with the 4 D's of intervention:

DIRECT

Ask: "Are you OK?"

Identify what's inappropriate in the "harm doer's" behavior.

DISTRACT

Change the topic. Create a distraction.
Change activity or location.

DELEGATE

Ask others to help intervene.

DELAY

After an incident, ask colleagues how you can support them if they've experienced harassment.
