

The 2017 Shmuel Traum Prize in Literary Translation

for poetry, fiction, or drama translated into English from French, German, or Hebrew

Grand Prize: $200

and publication in BU's Pustebblume Journal of Translation

Winners will be announced at the ceremony and reading for the Fitzgerald and Traum Prizes, Friday, April 28, 2017, at 3 pm in STH 625.

Open to all current BU students (graduate or undergraduate).

Please submit:

- A cover sheet which includes:

The title(s) of the original selection and your translation

Your name, BU ID number, mailing address, telephone number, and email

DO NOT include your name anywhere in the submission but the cover sheet, or your submission may be disqualified.

- 2 copies of the selection in its original language.
- 2 copies of your translation manuscript, typed, double spaced, with a header indicating title, author, & language of the original.

Verse submissions should not exceed 100 lines of a single long poem or several shorter works by the same poet or by poets of similar style and period.

Prose submissions in fiction or drama should not exceed 12 double-spaced pages of a complete work or excerpt (chapter, act, or section) of a longer work.

Contest materials are due by 12 noon on Monday, April 10 to:

The Shmuel Traum Translation Prize Committee Department of World Languages & Literatures
745 Commonwealth Avenue, Sixth Floor, Room 625

For more information, contact David Shames at shames@bu.edu or visit bu.edu/translation.