CENTER ON FORCED DISPLACEMENT

The Center on Forced Displacement fosters interdisciplinary research and engagement with the global challenge of forced displacement. We bring together multidisciplinary teams of researchers, practitioners, and artists from across schools and colleges at Boston University, around the country, and around the world.

Funding

The Center on Forced Displacement (CFD) is pleased to offer funding opportunities for innovative and interdisciplinary research projects focused on forced displacement. Funding is available on a rolling basis for both individual researchers and collaborative, interdisciplinary teams. Proposals should align with one or more of CFD's four research pillars.

Events

CFD hosts and sponsors numerous events throughout the year including conferences, book talks, open houses, film screenings, and more.
