Applying for Boston University Aid when Your Biological/Adoptive Parents are Not Married to Each Other

How is Eligibility Determined when the Parents are Not Married to Each Other?

It is Boston University policy to expect information and financial support from both biological/adoptive parents of students applying for BU financial aid. When parents are married to each other, information for both parents is provided on the CSS PROFILE and on the FAFSA.

When parents are not married to each other and do not share the same household, the custodial parent must complete the CSS PROFILE and the FAFSA. The custodial parent is the parent with whom the student primarily lives. The noncustodial parent completes the CSS Noncustodial PROFILE (NCP). If either parent has remarried, the stepparent's information must be included.

When parents are not legally married to each other, or do not meet the federal marriage criteria, but share the same household, both parents must report their information on the CSS PROFILE. However, only the parent who provides the majority of the support to the student reports his/her information on the FAFSA. In addition, a "Verification of Finances for Parents who are not Married to each other but Share the Same Household" form (available at www.bu.edu/finaid/forms/index.html) must be completed.

What Criteria is used to determine which Parent is Custodial vs. Noncustodial?

The custodial parent, as defined by federal financial aid regulation and Boston University policy, is the biological/adoptive parent with whom the student lived more during the 12 months prior to applying for aid. If the student lived with neither parent during the prior 12 months, or lived equally with each parent, the custodial parent is the parent from whom the student received more financial support during the past 12 months or during the most recent year the student received support from a parent. In determining custodial parent status, it does not matter which parent claims the student as an exemption for tax purposes.

What is the Noncustodial PROFILE?

Similar to the PROFILE, the Noncustodial PROFILE is an online application on which noncustodial parents of first time aid applicants report their income, asset, and other information. If the student's biological/adoptive parents are divorced, separated or were never married to each other and do not share the same household, the student will be sent an email upon completion of the registration portion of the PROFILE. The email will include a link to the Noncustodial PROFILE application. The student will be instructed to forward that email to his/her noncustodial parent. The noncustodial parent will, upon accessing the application, be instructed to immediately change the password, thus securing the privacy of his/her information. BU will not release, electronically or otherwise, the income and asset information of divorced/separated parents to the other parent.

What if I never got the email or misplaced it?

The student can call PROFILE Customer Support at 305-829-9793 if, for whatever reason, he/she is not in possession of the NCP email. Upon the student's request, CSS will send the NCP email to the student or directly to the noncustodial parent.

What if my Noncustodial Parent is Reluctant to Provide the Necessary Information?

Sometimes noncustodial parents are reluctant to provide information initially. Noncustodial parents are welcome to contact us directly and we will be happy to answer any questions they have about the process. Providing information does not necessarily mean that a noncustodial parent contribution will be expected. But, a parent's refusal to provide information or financial support will not, on its own, constitute sufficient justification for a waiver of this requirement.

What if the Separation/Divorce is very recent and occurred after the Aid Application is filed?

Additional documentation will be required if the parents become separated or divorced after filing financial aid applications. Documents required may include:

- Copy of the Separation Agreement (if available)
- Copy of Final Divorce Decree
- Noncustodial PROFILE Pre-Application Worksheet (available upon request)
- Income verification for both parents (including child support and/or alimony)
- Documentation to determine household size/number in college
- Documentation to determine parents' assets
- Other additional documentation

If neither a Separation Agreement nor Divorce Decree is available, a letter explaining the relevant details may be sufficient. For federal aid purposes, there need not be a "legal separation"; the student's parents may be considered separated when one of the parents has left the household for an indefinite period of time and no longer makes a substantial contribution to the finances as a member of that household. However, if parents still share the same household, they are not considered separated and information for both parents must be reported. Also, when one parent resides outside the household for employment purposes only, the parents would not be considered separated.

What if my Parents or I have Questions?

If you or either of your parents has questions about the Noncustodial PROFILE, call CSS at 305-829-9793. For questions about any aspect of the aid application process, contact BU Financial Assistance at 617-353-2965 or finaid@bu.edu. Please include your name and Boston University ID number in any email communication. When a divorced or separated parent contacts us on a student's behalf, we will ask for clarification regarding his/her status as either the custodial or the noncustodial parent, so we can ensure the confidentiality of each party's personal information.

What if it is Impossible to Provide a Completed Noncustodial PROFILE?

We recognize that extenuating circumstances in individual cases may make it impossible to obtain information and/or support. If the noncustodial parent's whereabouts are unknown, if there is an established history of no contact, or if there are certain other extenuating circumstances, we may exempt the student from the Noncustodial PROFILE requirement. A decision on the aid application cannot be made until the Noncustodial PROFILE is received or a waiver request is approved.

To request a Waiver because you believe it is impossible to provide a Noncustodial PROFILE, complete the Noncustodial PROFILE Waiver Request form (below) and send it to:

Attach additional sheet(s) of paper if necessary.
