5. The method(s) used by the institution to determine which students receive Emergency Financial Aid Grants and how much they would receive under the CRRSAA and ARP (a)(1) and (a)(4) programs.

Under CRRSAA: Boston University defined students with a FAFSA EFC \leq 15,000 as having exceptional need and limited the funds to enrolled students as of the date of identification. The amount of the awards was tiered based on the lowest EFC to the highest in order to prioritize students with the most need. All of these students were impacted by COVID-19 and had additional expenses related to technology and expenses related to remote work required to attend courses in a hybrid classroom model.

Under ARP: Boston University defined students with a FAFSA EFC \leq 15,000 as having exceptional need and limited the funds to enrolled students as of the date of identification. The amount of the awards was tiered based on the lowest EFC to the highest in order to prioritize students with the most need. In addition, a special application was made available for students to apply for the funds if they experienced a financial burden related to COVID-19. These students received a smaller amount since they either hadn't completed the FAFSA or had a higher EFC.

6. Any instructions, directions, or guidance provided by the institution to students concerning the Emergency Financial Aid Grants.
