

"CAN WE SEE THE BABY BUMP PLEASE?"

Film Screening and Speaker on Commercial Surrogacy in India

Monday, April 22, 2013 · Bakst Auditorium
5:00 - 6:30 p.m.

Commissioned by the Sama Resource Group for Women and Health in New Delhi, the film explores current ethical challenges posed by commercial surrogacy in India.

Sarojini N., the director and co-founder of Sama, will discuss her organization's recent research on surrogacy practices, as well as strategies that would address such problems as medical malpractice and the exploitation of women hired to be gestational mothers. A women's health advocate and researcher for more than 18 years, Sarojini writes and speaks extensively on reproductive and medical technologies.

Sponsored by:
Our Bodies Ourselves
BUSPH Health Law, Bioethics, and Human Rights Department
Health and Human Rights Caucus