

BOSTON UNIVERSITY GRADUATE SCHOOL

Department of History

PH.D. QUALIFYING ORAL EXAMINATION IN HISTORY

Procedure: Each student should submit this approval form at least one month before the qualifying oral examination is scheduled to occur. The exam has one major field, which should be comprehensive, and one minor field. (Note that study in African history requires regional specialization plus knowledge of a related discipline.) The examination committee consists of four persons, three of whom must have expertise in the student's major field and one in the minor field. For more details, refer to the departmental Handbook for Graduate Students. This form will be kept on file in the History department.

Name of Candidate:

Field of Specialization:

Major Professor

Two Other Examiners in the Major Field:

Minor Field:

Examiner in the Minor Field:

Have you completed all courses required for the Ph.D.?

Have you submitted a research paper for each year of full-time study?

Have you passed two foreign languages (or a substitute for the second language)?

List languages passed:

Approvals:

Major Professor:

Date:

Director of Graduate Studies:

Date:

After obtaining the required approvals, the candidate is responsible for arranging with the faculty members involved a mutually agreeable date for the oral examination. The Graduate Studies Committee must then be informed of this date.

Notice to faculty members serving on this Qualifying Oral Examination:

Date of Examination:

Time:

Place: