

Institute of Contemporary Art

An internship in the Curatorial Department at the Institute of Contemporary Art/Boston will expose the intern to many facets of curatorial work and the fast-paced world of contemporary art. This person will support curators in research for exhibition projects, publications, and potential acquisitions and have an opportunity to see projects of various scales and at different stages of development.