

Concord Museum

The Concord Museum invites visitors of all ages to learn about the history of Concord and its continuing influence on American political, literary and cultural life. The Museum's nationally significant collection serves as a catalyst for changing exhibitions, extended classroom learning, and dynamic programming relevant to an ever-changing world. The Museum seeks a curatorial intern to work on several projects connected to our upcoming and permanent exhibits which draw largely from a historic collection of 40,000 objects. In addition, our work also engages with contemporary voices, artists, and writers, such as our upcoming special exhibition Mark Dion: Eccentric Collectors Like Us. The curatorial intern will have the opportunity to assist with our exhibit process, while also learning about related initiatives in education, public programs, and other departments across the Concord Museum. An interest in historical research and interpretive writing, creativity, a hands-on approach, and a desire to work in a collaborative setting are helpful skills for this internship.
