and Dr. Kenji Sagae (University of California, Davis)

Amarna Miller (Feminist pro-sex activist, Los Angeles, California; @AmarnaMiller)

The graduate students of the Department of Spanish and Portuguese at UC Davis are pleased to announce the 14th Annual Samuel Armistead Colloquium. We welcome submissions from graduate and undergraduate students working in any area of Hispanic or Luso-Brazilian literature, culture, language, or linguistics.

Within this colloquium, we are celebrating a thematic sphere dedicated to social activism. The year 2018 has seen a surge in student activism in legislative, societal, and academic settings. Drawing on the need to bridge academic discourse, social movements and student protests, this colloquium will bring together activists and scholars across all disciplines. We envision our colloquium as a space to establish an innovative dialogue that will take into account voices and figures often left unheard in traditional academic discourse.

Topics may include, but are not limited to:

Activism | African Diaspora Studies | Bilingualism | Biopolitics | Border Studies | Chicanx-Latinx Studies
Critical Theory | Corpus Linguistics | Cultural Studies | Digital Humanities | Disability Studies | Discourse
Analysis | Early Modern Studies | Economics and Trade | First, Second, Heritage Language Acquisition
Gender, Sexuality & Women's Studies | LGBTQI+ & Queer Studies | Linguistic Variation and Contact | Literary
Criticism | Native American (Hemispheric) Studies | Performance Studies | Race and Ethnicity | Science and
Technology Studies | Theoretical Linguistics | Sociolinguistics | The Affective Turn | Vulnerability Studies

Presentations should be in English, Spanish, or Portuguese, and should not exceed 20 minutes in length. Panel presentations are invited. Please submit abstracts, limited to 250 words, by April 30th, 2018 to this Google Form: <https://goo.gl/forms/nbaQ6sSI9NWdrSuq1>
