SELECTED UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATIVE EXPERIENCE

Founding Director: Center for the Study of Europe (2011 through 2016)—established this new interdisciplinary Center that hosts speakers and visiting fellows; sponsors events and conferences on European Studies across the humanities and social sciences; and oversees the newly established Major and Minor in European Studies.

Ad Hoc Director: European Studies Program, Boston University, with a range of EU focused activities and grants (1999 to 2011).

Director: Center for International Relations (2008 to 2012)—host speakers and events on international relations, with a special focus on the European Union.

Director: Center for Democracy and Development, McCormack Institute, University of Massachusetts (1994-1998): Director of this applied public policy center, with the mission to encourage democratization efforts primarily in developing nations. The center focused in particular on promoting democratic development in Francophone and sub-Saharan African through programs and exchanges of academics, policymakers, and grassroots organizers. Responsible for administering Center, generating grant applications, and organizing and running projects focused on research and training programs on local government administration and local economic development. Initiatives included South Africa, Namibia, Francophone Africa (Cameroon, Mali, Senegal), Russia, and Northern Ireland.

Director: European Studies Program, University of Massachusetts (1993-1998): Founding director of this interdisciplinary, university-wide program which sponsors courses, runs a lecture series, and has a European Scholar in Residence Program which brings in approximately six scholars a year for short-term visits. Responsible for running the undergraduate certificate program, advising students, and promoting curriculum development; for fundraising and grantwriting; and for public outreach, which involves arranging lectures in conjunction with area professional groups. Program received support.

Coordinator: Problems of Inquiry Program, University of Massachusetts (1977-1982): an interdisciplinary, nine-credit foundation program in the logic of inquiry and ethics which integrated materials from the natural sciences, social sciences, philosophy, and management. I originated, co-designed, and coordinated the program as well as edited a custom-published book for it: The Problems of Inquiry (Lexington, MA: Ginn, 1981).
