

PUT RESEARCH AT THE CENTER

A distinctive feature of research at the Pardee School is the collection of centers and institutes within our Division of Regional Studies. Each center brings together scholars from different disciplines across the University to focus on solving problems and breaking new ground:

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Your gift to any of these centers can help speed the progress of research in an area you care about. In addition, we are currently seeking to build a Center for Middle East Studies, and we welcome your support. You can contribute any amount to the center you choose.

Set up your contribution online.