

CALL FOR PAPERS:

18th Annual Collegium on Language Teaching

The Department of Foreign Languages and Literature and the Master of Arts in Language Teaching Program (MALT) announce the 2024 Call for Proposals for the 18th Annual MALT Colloquium on Language Teaching, to take place Saturday February 10, 2024, 10:00 AM-1:00 PM over Zoom.

This year's Colloquium includes a Keynote Address by Dr. Claudia Fernández (University of Illinois at Chicago). With more than 20 years of language teaching experience, Dr. Fernández' research interests are in the area of task-based language teaching, materials development, and input processing. She is the co-editor of Using Language Learning Materials: Theory and Practice (Cambridge Scholars Publishing), the co-author of the textbooks Aula en acción (Klett World Languages) and the author of "What is and what is not comprehension-based communicative language teaching?" (Klett World Languages, 2024). She is the current recipient of the Teaching Recognition Program award at UIC for excellence in teaching.

Proposals may address the following areas:

- Language teaching/learning strategies
- Language learning styles
- Pedagogical innovations in language teaching, assessment & evaluation
- Language & culture
- Teaching literature and/or civilization within the language class
- Language & technology
- Second/foreign language acquisition: connecting theory to practice
- Literacy, applied linguistics, and sociolinguistics

Please submit your abstracts before October 31st, 2023 by email to:
jsequeros-valle@unomaha.edu (1-page for text, 1-page for examples, figures, and references).

If you have questions, you can contact:

- Marie Lee at mglee@unomaha.edu
- Dr. Jose Sequeros-Valle at jsequeros-valle@unomaha.edu
- Dr. Cecilia Tocaimaza-Hatch at ctocaimazahatch@unomaha.edu

Published: 2023/08/03